Arabian Alliance Is Signed

Egypt, Saudi Arabia And Yemen Finish Military Agreement Aimed at Solidity

CAIRO, Egypt, April 21 (AP) — Egypt, Saudi Arabia, and the little desert kingdom of Yemen today signed a military pact aimed at solidifying the Arab world.

Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, King Saudi of Saudi Arabia, and Iman Ahmed of Yemen signed the alliance in the walled city of Jidda, Saudi Arabian port. They reached agreement after 13 hours of discussion.

A joint communique broadcast tonight declared the three Arab rulers had agreed to exchange cultural, economic and scientific information as well as signing a military agreement.

The communique said the trio discussed maintenance of peace in the Middle East and carried out the talks in an "atmosphere of friendliness."

The pact may herald a new era of international activity for Yemen, which until now has been one of the world's most isolated nations.

Some observers interpreted Nasser's sudden plunge into the Saudi-Yemen agreement as a sign he intends to join forces in a drive to push the British completely out of the Arab world.

Others said, however, he may have entered the three - power group to restrain the two partners from too hasty or too drastic action. They said he had played a moderating role last fall in the Arab League when Saudi Arabians wanted strong anti-British action in a dispute over the Buraimi oasis in southeast Arabia.

Yemen and Saudi Arabia have common ground in their disputes with Britain.

Yemen has a long - standing claim to territory fringing the Indian Ocean. During the time of the Ottoman Empire Britain drew up treaties of protection with the local sultans to form buffer states between Ottoman - dominated Yemen and the British port of Aden.

Lately Yemen's purely passive claim over the protectorates has been stirred to activity by Britain's efforts to promote a federation of the protectorates, an action which Yemen believes would block her claims.

Britain's seeking of an oil concession on the Red Sea island of Kamaran off the Yemen coast also has aroused the Iman.

Lions Arrange Third Annual Broom Sale

The Sedalia Lions Club plans to make a clean sweet of things. In an effort to cooperate with Sedalia's Clean-up, Fix-up, Paint-up Week May 7-14, and at the same time to perform another one of its worthwhile projects, the Lions Club has voted to hold its Third Annual Broom Sale. The proceeds from this sale is to be used to purchase a whirlpool bath and other needed items for the Crippled Children's Center.

President John Ellison appointed Bob Cain general chairman and the following committee to be assisted by the entire membership: James Simmons, auditor; A. B. Warren, procurement; Abe Silverman, publicity; George Riley, Verrell Martin and Harold Seaburg, business and industrial solicitation.

The Lions Club membership will solicit Sedalians and others to purchase brooms, brushes and mops manufactured by Missouri blind craftsmen.

By selling good merchandise at fair prices, produced by Missouri handicapped persons, and using the profits for local charitable causes, the Sedalia Lions Club feels that this is a worthwhile endeavor and will be generously supported by the people of Sedalia and the surrouding territory.

Heads Four-State Area—

Sedalian Will Direct Satellite Observation

Russell Maag, 904 South Ohio, has been appointed to the National Committee for Visual Observers f the IGY Satellites. The committee's duty will be to organize volunteer ground observers to track the earth satellites that will be launched sometime in the summer of 1957.

Tracking instruments will try to spot the satellites as they circle the earth at 18,000 miles per hour, but clouds or failure of delicate radio instruments out in space could cause the observers to lose track of the tiny "moons."

That is why the Smithsonian Institution has appointed the national committee to enlist the aid of amateur astronomers all over the world to track the satellites with binoculars.

Maag, as a member of the committee, will supervise organization of volunteer observers in an area covering Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Observers will be organized into groups that will maintain watch with a minimum of 30 pairs of binoculars. Anyone who is interested in astronomy and has a pair of binoculars with a minimum power of 6 by 30 is urged to take part in the program.

Amand N. Spitz, who will head the committee as coordinator of visual observation for the Smithsonian Institution, is a writer on astronomy and inventor of the Spitz planetarium.

Maag is a member of the Astronomical League which has a regional organization at Central College in Fayette. An observing station that is already set up at Central College will be used as one of the tracking sites for the observers.

Officials point out that the problems facing the amateurs will be considerable. Each satellite (about a dozen will be launched in the summer of 1957) will be 30 inches in diameter and will whiz around the earth 200 to 300 miles up. It will circle the globe in an hour and a half and will be visible only at dusk and dawn. A needle in a haystack would be easier to find.

Scientists will track the satellite on its takeoff from Florida and locate it again, theoretically, when it passes one of 12 elaborate observation points scattered around the world.

The satellite, meanwhile, is supposed to send radio signals back to earth, enabling scientists to spot it.

But it is pointed out that a tiny radio shot into space cannot reasonably be expected to work all the time, and its batteries probably will not last as long as the satellite will stay up.

The amateurs are expected to fill in the gaps.

More Rose Plants Are Needed to Complete Memorial Garden

Another 24 rose plants are need to complete the four beds of roses in the memorial garden at Liberty Park. Anyone wishing to donate roses for the garden may telephone Lloyd R. Black, superintendent of Sedalia's city parks, at 932 and make arrangements with him.

Proposes Stopping H-Tests

Adlai Stevenson Says This Would Prove US Desire To Achieve Peace

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson proposed today that the United States halt H-bomb tests to demonstrate its desire for peace and recapture the world initiative which he said the Eisenhower administration has lost.

Stevenson blamed the loss of this "moral initiative," which he said is the prelude to the loss of world leadership, on what he called the administration's "rigid, unimaginative" foreign policy.

By contrast, he said "the Russian challenge is developing rapidly and with great flexibility and force."

Stevenson said that if "other nations" do not follow the American example in calling off further H-bomb tests "we will know about it and we can reconsider our policy."

Declaring that the Eisenhower administration has used foreign policy "for political purposes at home," Stevenson said:

"Peace and security are the nation's most important business. Yet nowhere has our government told us less and kidded us more.

"Reverses have been painted as victories. And if the administration has not succeeded in misleading the enemy, it has succeeded wonderfully well in misleading us."

Stevenson addressed a group of newspaper editors from all parts of the country. They greeted him with a rising ovation, remained silent throughout his speech, and then applauded him for 45 seconds at the end.

The Democratic presidential aspirant noted that Russia has protested against this country's scheduled tests in the Pacific next month but said this did not alter his views.

"For this suggestion is right or wrong and should be so considered regardless of the Soviet," he said.

Stevenson came to Washington to address a luncheon of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and attend a fund-raising dinner of the Democratic National Committee.

Figures Don't Tell All—

AP Tabulation Shows Estes Has More Delegates' Votes

WASHINGTON, April 21—(AP)—Delegates with 248 votes in the 1,372-vote Democratic National Convention have been chosen, and the latest Associated Press tabulation shows the votes divided this way:

Sen. Estes Kefauver	69
Adlai Stevenson	26½
Gov. Averell Harriman	1
Uncommitted	151½

The figures do not tell the whole story. Stevenson supporters say their candidate has much more potential strength in that big publicly uncommitted column, especially in Illinois, Louisiana, and New Jersey. Kefauver backers believe victories over Stevenson in Florida and California would swing many an uncommitted delegate to their side.

Another qualifying factor is that several states and territories will observe the unit rule which gives a candidate, favored by a majority, the entire delegation.

Stevenson is assured of at least 35½ additional votes in next Tuesday's presidential primaries in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. Preprimary polls by the Associated Press of unopposed delegate candidates showed the former Illinois governor favored by delegate candidates with 25 votes in Pennsylvania and 10½ votes in Massachusetts.

Pennsylvania voters elect Democratic delegates with 60 votes to round out a 74-vote delegation. Delegates at large with 14 votes were named last January by committee. Sixty Republican delegates also will be elected to complete a delegation of 70. Massachusetts picks delegations with 40 Democratic and 38 Republican votes.

On Wednesday a Deleware state convention will choose 12 GOP delegates to bring the week's total for that party to 110.

Pettis GOP Elects Its Delegations

Pettis County Republicans held their convention Saturday afternoon at the courthouse assembly room and elected delegates and alternates to the convention May 4 of the 11th Congressional District at Boonville and to the state convention June 23 in St. Louis.

Fifteen delegates and alternates were elected to each convention. The list of those who were elected for the district convention follows, with the name of the delegate appearing first and that of the alternate second:

L. J. Harned and James Rissler; George Dugan, Jr., and L. D. Hardeman; Jack Cunningham and Mrs. R. R. Conn; L. B. Fall and Mrs. Alma Beaver; A. H. Wilks and Mrs. Zula Whitley; Carl G. Schrader and Mrs. Bernice Jones; Paul Hausam and L. L. Freund; George H. Miller and Harry Spillers; Harry Brougher and Carl Raines; Mrs. Fred G. Rose and Mrs. L. A. Spencer; W. D. Smith and Bruce Claycomb; Mrs. Ruth Monsees and Del Heckart; Harvey D. Dow and Forrest Benner; Earl Crawford and Don Lamm, Jr.; and Mrs. Evelyn Cox and George James.

The list of delegates and alternates to the state convention follows in the same order:

W. D. Smith and Aubrey Owens; Herb Seifert and Mrs. Dick Monsees; John Palmer and L. E. Sheridan; Carl G. Schrader and James Atkinson; George H. Miller and Mrs. Ida Harriman; Harvey D. Dow and C. R. Stoddard; Miss Josephine Chipman and L. B. Fall; Mrs. W. D. Austin and Paul Hausam; Mrs. J. F. Schumacher and A. R. Beach; A. H. Wilks and Mrs. Ralph Hamlin; Earl Crawford and Mrs. J. E. Lamy; Mrs. Fred Handley and Mrs. Bernice Jones; Mrs. E. G. Kehde and Oscar Lawson; Mrs. Fred G. Rose and Carl J. Meyers; and James Green and Mrs. Earl S. Lugen.

County Chairman Leo. J. Harned served as president of the convention. Candidates for the fall election were introduced.

Will Honeymoon in Nassau—

Meg Truman, Clifton Daniel Are Wed In Simple Ceremony

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., April 21 (AP) — Margaret Truman and Clifton Daniel, Jr., were married today in a simple ceremony at Trinity Episcopal Church.

Only close relatives and friends watched as the 32-year-old daughter of former President Harry S. Truman became the bride of the 43-year-old assistant to the foreign editor of the New York Times.

A crowd estimated by police at 1,000 greeted the happy couple as they stepped out into the bright sunshine of warm spring day.

It was the kind of wedding ceremony that Margaret insisted upon.

It was the same kind of wedding ceremony that any small town girl in any small town, U. S. A., could have.

Margaret resisted — "and we Trumans can be stubborn," she often has said—the natural trend resulting from the big influx of reporters, photographers, radio-TV commentators — to turn the event into a gala event.

But Margaret finally agreed to a limited number of news reporters on a pooled basis at the ceremony and at the small reception afterwards in the Trumans' big old fashioned home.

This is the first marriage for Margaret and Clifton. She is 32 and he 43.

A handsome chap, with wavy graying hair and dark eyes, he started out as a $5 a week reporter in North Carolina. He is now assistant foreign editor of the New York Times.

Margaret, who has never thought she looked well in white, wore a wedding gown of 17th century beige Venetian lace and 25 yards of matching pleated tulle.

It was ankle length and had three-quarter sleeves.

Margaret had two attendants—Mrs. William Coleman Branton of Kansas City, and Mrs. John Horton of Los Angeles, the former Dreuice Snyder, daughter of the secretary of the treasury in the Truman administration.

Margaret had been a bridesmaid in both their weddings.

Daniel was attended by John Knox Barrow of Ahoskie, N. C., a lumber mill operator who grew up with Daniel in Zebulon, N. C. They were college roommates and fraternity brothers at the University of North Carolina.

The ushers were Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times; and George Backer, a former president and editor of the New York Post. It was in the Backers' home that Margaret and Cliff met.

Margaret was given in marriage by her father, who with her mother, thoroughly approved of a wedding without fanfare—and also approved of their new son-in-law.

"The more I see of him, the better I like him," Truman said.

The Episcopal wedding ceremony, simple and reverent, was performed by the Rev. Patric Hutton. It was a single ceremony and the word "obey" was not used.

The church was decorated with large pots of woodwardia fern and white chrysanthemums and white stock.

Challenges Soviet Chiefs To Prove Change Of Heart

President Asks Them to Abandon 'Wrong of Stalin' to Other Nations; Speaks to Newspapermen

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP) — President Eisenhower challenged Russia's leaders tonight to abandon "the wrongs of Stalin" against other nations. He declared the United States will welcome the day when the Soviet government devotes itself to the legitimate interests of Russia.

His words, prepared for delivery to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, read as if written also for Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, who are now visiting England and trumpeting their familiar peace line.

Eisenhower told them in effect that the "wrongs of Stalin," which they ought to undo, are the continued division of Germany, the "Soviet puppet" rule of eastern Europe and the division of Korea as well as the uncertain outlook for peace in Asia.

"These knotty problems will yield to patient and sincere effort," the President said. "We stand ready to explore all avenues for their just settlement. We will not grow weary in our quest for peaceful remedies for the enslavement or wrongful division of once-free nations."

The chief executive asserted that a Soviet government "genuinely devoted" to the legitimate interests of the Russian nation "can have friendly relations with the United States and the free world for the asking."

But the President declared that the major international issue of the postwar world are still unsolved despite the switch from Stalinist to a "collective" dictatorship in Russia.

"More basic changes in Soviet policy will have to take place before the nations can afford to relax their vigilance."

One of the things which the United States must be prepared to do, Eisenhower said in a speech prepared for the American Society of Newspaper Editors, is maintain foreign aid "over a number of years."

Much of his address was an argument for his pending foreign aid proposals, including a request for congressional authorization to make long-term foreign aid commitments.

A parallel theme which ran through the speech was that the United States understands and respects the ambitions for independence of countries which have recently revolted or are in process of revolting against colonial domination.

Sen. Hennings Claims Peril By Monopolies

Brands Republican Administration 'Rule of Plutocracy'

ST. CHARLES, Mo., April 21—(AP)—Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) charged tonight the growth of monopolies he said was fostered by the Eisenhower administration at the expense of small business is a peril to free enterprise and popular government.

The Missouri senator, in a speech prepared for delivery before a fund raising dinner of St. Charles County Democrats, branded the GOP administration as "the rule of plutocracy."

"Never in the history of the country has there been such a trend to monopoly through widespread mergers as during the Eisenhower administration," Hennings said. "In 1954 there were three times as many mergers as occurred in 1949 and one-third more than in 1953.

"Small and independent farmers, as we all know, are rapidly being driven out of business. These Republicans would tell you that the development of a few large-scale enterprises, for which millions of Americans will be working, is the best way to get the work of America done.

"But the people of this country do not want all their business dealings to be at the mercy of a few giant corporations. Above all they do not want their government under the control of a few giant corporations."

Earlier in the day Hennings told a mock political convention of students at Lindenwood College here that "the rescue of the American farmer from a deepening depression" is the most important domestic problem of government.

"On the face of the record," he said, "only a victory of the Democratic party at next autumn's elections can assure the recovery of this nation's agriculture."

Cape Girardeau Lady Is Installed As DAR President General

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Frederic A. Groves of Cape Girardeau, Mo., was installed today as president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Elected last night to a three-year term, she succeeded Miss Gertrude Sprague Carraway of New Bern, N.C.

Mrs. Groves told the approximately 1,500 DARs at the installation ceremony that "We hope the next three years will prove a record of team work." She added:

"We will do our best to keep faith with the national society and the fine women who have served as our leaders."

Also installed today were Mrs. Groves' cabinet of 11 general officers and eight vice presidents, along with state regents and vice regents.

The installation concluded the 65th continental congress of the DAR.

20th Century Show's Flop On TV Noted

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —"Twentieth Century," which appeared on TV a fortnight ago, offers a good lesson in how American tastes in comedy have changed.

It wasn't a good show. I have been pondering the reasons ever since. Some critics placed the blame on Orson Welles. True, he did get tangled in a useless accent. But ye also supplied some lively hamming, which was what the part called for.

Betty Grable was not ideal casting as the volatile actress. She was required to play the part as a dumb blonde, while she should have been wordly and calculating.

But there were other reasons besides casting that made the show fail to jell. I think perhaps the main factor was that the play was dated.

Historians will point out that it was again a hit on Broadway just a few years ago with Jose Ferrer and Gloria Swanson. But I wonder if its success then wasn't a tribute to two brilliant theatrical personalities.

"Twentieth Century" harks back to the '30s, which were the heyday of comedy in the American theater. That was when Moss Hart, the Spewacks and others were turning out hilarious hits. Among the great plays of that era: "Once in a Lifetime," "Of Thee I Sing," "Boy Meets Girl," "You Can't Take it With You," "Three Men on a Horse," "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Though we look back on the comedies of that era with much fondness, I doubt if many would stand up under the demands of today's tastes. The fact is that styles in comedy change, just as all styles do.

If any common theme of those comedies of the '30s can be found, it is perhaps that they concerned slightly wacky people doing eccentric things. In the case of "20th Century," the train was peopled with screwy characters: a mad showman, a tempestuous actress, an alcoholic press agent, an evangelistic lunatic, two actors in long beards, an apoplectic conductor, etc. All did outlandish things, so there was no semblance of reality.

The more recent comedy hits on Broadway are different. For the most part, they deal with real people and real problems. In "Teahouse of the August Moon," the clash of Oriental and Western philosophies is depicted with hilarious results. In "No Time for Sergeants," the efforts to integrate a highly individualistic hillbilly into military life cause a laugh riot.

Some of the biggest laughs on the stage have been in shows with a high dramatic value, like "A Streetcar Named Desire," "Picnic," "Bus Stop," "Diary of Anne Frank."

It would appear that audiences now are more sophisticated, more concerned with the world's problems. Comedy now must have a purpose, a reality.

Shaky Weights

BLUEWATER, N. M. (AP)—The wind blusters so hard and long across the flats in this area that special arrangements had to be made by Anaconda Copper Mining Co. to weigh railroad ore cars and trucks hauling uranium to the firm's big mill here.

The company had to build windbreaks around the scales. "We have about seven months of heavy wind," said mill manager Jack Knaebel. "If we didn't have windbreaks, we never would get the scales settled down so we could take a true reading."

New Look for Small Girls: Use of Dressy Suspenders

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Light and airy fabrics, rippling petticoats and layers of color: these are the things little girls are made of this spring.

One floats over another (sheer over broadcloth, over fluffy petticoat) in small dresses done in watermelon pink, chalk blue, chocolate brown freshened with white. Thse are the vivid colors among the flowery pastels.

Suspenders, both real and make-believe, offer a new look for small girls' dresses this spring. Done in lace, appliques, embroidery or the dress fabric, they create a fresh fashion.

Cover-up for small sleeveless dresses is provided by large collars (square or round) that extend over the shoulders. Collars may be in the dress fabric or they may be in white linen, organdie or lace.

We show (left) Celeste's suspender dress of white organdy over pastel cotton broadcloth. Suspenders are embroidered in turquoise-and-white, are attached at the waistline.

Lace on voile (right) makes party dress from this same designer. Nylon tulle underskirt is used to pouf out the bouffant skirt. This dress is done in both strawberry pink and bonbon blue.

Public Library Notes—

Public Demand for Biblical Scrolls Literature at Library

Popular interest in the Biblical scrolls which were found in 1947 in caves near the Dead Sea has created a demand at the Sedalia Public Library for information regarding this great discovery.

"The subject of the Dead Sea scrolls has been part of the reading of thousands of people in the past few months,' explained Miss Mary Kay English, librarian. "The dramatic way in which the discovery has been publicized has aroused a demand about the scrolls and their interpretation."

Although the translation and interpretation of the scrolls will engage scholars everywhere for years to come, several books are now available at the Sedalia Library which tell about the discovery of the scrolls, and also give an explanation of how the scholars have worked to translate them. These books also include some translations of parts of the scrolls.

In 1955, two books appeared which discuss the subject fully. "Scrolls From the Dead Sea," by Edmund Wilson, is an account of the origin, discovery and implications of the scrolls. The author visited the Dead Sea site in the course of his investigation and he tells of both the scrolls and the scholars who are translating and interpreting them.

"The Dead Sea Scrolls," by Millar Burrows, outlines the story for the layman and summarizes the many disputed theories about the background and contents of the scrolls. The author was director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem at the time of the discovery.

Numerous magazine articles on the discovery are also available at the library.

Private Enterprise

LYONS, Mich. (AP) — The old bridge spaning the Grand River has been repaired and a private company picked up the tab.

The condemned bridge remained that way at first because there was a dispute over whether it was the responsibility of the village of Lyons, the township, the county or the state.

The company said it would pay the $100 needed for repairs because it was unable to get supplies across the bridge and its employes also used it.

Contest Is Conducted—

From License Plate to Cake, These Bonnets Have Variety

Every woman dreams of owning an original hat and Thursday evening there were 35 members of the Business and Professional Women's Club wearing originals to the April social at the Broadway Presbyterian Educational Building. These originals were created by the members to depict their respective occupation or hobby. As each woman came into the room, there were exclamations as those already there made guesses about the nature of the hats which ranged from a tiny hat to which was attached the word "greeting" worn by Mrs. Verna Williams of the Selective Service board, to several large hats.

A fashion show of hats was held after cards were played. The decision of the judge was then made public and first prize for the funniest hat was won by Miss Opal O'Briant, Pettis County home agent, with her hat covered with kitchen utensils used by a home agent in demonstrating. Second prize in the field went to Mrs. John Welch, an assistant to Dr. J. E. Cannaday, who wore an inverted potty to which were taped packages of brightly colored pills, tongue depressors, swabs, ointments and even a thermometer.

For the hat which best depicted the occupation, Mrs. Carl Yates of KSIS, won first. Topping her hat which was made from a record was a radio mike which was surrounded by miniatures carrying out program titles like a rooster and a watch for the Daybreaker Show; cows and pigs for the markets, and a baseball player for the Kansas City Athletics. Second prize went to Mrs. Velma Curtis, employed at the license bureau, who wore a creation made of an expired license plate bent to a peak in the center with pompoms on the side made out of license forms cut and curled to look like flowers and with small automobile parts scattered over the top. The hat was tied under the chin by a ribbon.

Some of the other creations, although they didn't win a prize, caught the eye. Mrs. Marie Spendiff, a tailor, had spools of thread around the brim of her hat, a swath of material draped from the back and a stuffed dog on top with its tape measure tongue pulled down onto the hat brim.

Mrs. Irene Dirck, who makes wedding cakes as a hobby, wore the two upper layer pans of her wedding cake set, decorated like a wedding cake in white and pink. On top was a cardboard bride and groom cut from a card. When the group began playing cards, Miss Hazel Barnett clapped her hands to get the group's attention, and the wedding cake crashed off Mrs. Dirck's head. Her only comment was that her cake had fallen.

On a hat worn by Mrs. Carl Goist of Goist Radio and Television, was the familiar sight of a television antenna, which was surrounded by cutouts of television sets and radios.

Mrs. Darrell Bail of Harvey Brothers Implement Co. wore a bright yellow sun helmet decorated with a miniature tractor, rake, disc and corn planter.

Mrs. Anna Bagby of Bagby Poultry Farm and Hatchery, president of BPW, wore a small hat with cutouts of chicks and eggs around the upturned brim.

Mrs. Dolly Middleton, who works at Meadow Gold, perhaps had the simplest hat, an empty gallon cottage cheese container inverted on her head.

A Mexican hat, outlined with classified ads, with ads on the brim and crown and around the band, was worn by Louella Swegles, who is in the classified ad department of The Sedalia Democrat-Capital.

Miss Joella Brereton, society editor of The Sedalia Democrat-Capital, had a hat topped with a tall white cardboard church comlpete with steeple. To the right of the church were a bride and groom made of pipe cleaners. To the left was a curved piece of paper labeled Sedalia Democrat, with a picture of a bride. On top of the sheet was a miniature desk and chair with a pipecleaner figure typing on a miniature typewriter.

Silver dollars were awarded to the winners of the hat contest and to Mrs. Ruth Brereton for first in cards with her low score, and to Mrs. Killingsworth for second or high score.

After the pictures were taken, refreshments were served by Mrs. Verna Williams, Mrs. Marie Spendriff, Mrs. Louella Swegles and Miss Joella Brereton.

Pettis Muscular Dystrophy Case Is Encouraging

The condition of Bobby Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wolf, 1703 South Brown, Pettis County's only known muscular dystrophy patient, is encouraging. He is under the care of William J. Stewart, MD, orthopedic specialist from the State Hospital for Cripple Children in Columbia. Bobby is a patient at the Blosser Crippled Children's home in Marshall. Now 17, he has the same thoughts any boy his age has. He is very interested in radio repair and is quite proud of the fact that he has made an abandoned radio light up. The radio was one of several found in the basement of the home and given to the boys to work on.

Bobby sings well and accompanies himself on the guitar. He has a long, hard battle ahead of him, but the present report is that he is holding his own. It cheers him to know that Pettis Countians are helping in the fight by interest in and contributions to the MDAA for research in the dread disease.

Two leading groups in Sedalia are planning ice cream socials for MDAA. They are, K-Jo Kindergarten, 16th and Beacon, May 11, from 5:30-8:30, and the Missouri Pacific Women's Club June 15 at the courthouse parking lot from 5 to 9:30 p.m.

Longest series of United States postage stamps was the 1938 regular, or definitive, issue of 32 stamps on which U.S. presidents were pictured.

Miss DeWitt will be at the second piano.

Parents and friends are invited.

Muscular Dystrophy Officers Re-elected

The Pettis County Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Association of America met Tuesday night. The following were appointed by the president, Mrs. Lily Thomas, to the executive committee: Mrs. Lily Thomas, Mrs. J. E. Wolf, Mrs. W. A. Spraggins, A. J. Gregory, Mrs. Ralph Strader, Frank Sloan, Claude Deininger, Mrs. George West and Mrs. A. J. Gregory.

This group in turn re-elected the officers for a second term, Mrs. Thomas as president; Mrs. J. E. Wolf, first vice-president; Mrs. W. A. Spraggins, second vice-president, A. J. Gregory, treasurer, and Mrs. Ralph Strader, secretary.

Gets Probation Instead of Term In Manslaughter

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A lawyer claiming his client had never been in any kind of trouble except for "five crazy minutes," succeeded in obtaining a probation instead of a reformatory term on a manslaughter charge for Edward M. Sheehan of St. Louis.

Sheehan, 22-year-old grocery clerk, had pleaded guilty to the charge growing out of a crash of his auto and another car in which the other driver, Earl Gillick, was killed. The accident happened last April as suburban University City police chased Sheehan at high speeds.

Police quoted Sheehan as saying he had had "a few beers" shortly before the chase.

Circuit Judge Raymond E. LaDriere had sentenced Sheehan to two years in Algoa Reformatory, but yesterday joined three of four St. Louis County judges to vote for leniency on Sheehan's probation plea.

Judge LaDriere said he received more than 20 letters in Sheehan's behalf and it was brought out that his record as a student and as an employe was excellent.

Sheehan, under terms of the probation, is to stay out of taverns and not drive a car during the two years.

4-H Round-Up with
BOB MASON
Pettis County Asst. Agent

State 4-H Club Week

State Club Week is just around the corner and appplication blanks have been mailed to all eligible 4-H members. If you know of any eligible member who has not received an application blank have them contact the extension office and we shall provide them with the proper papers.

State Club Week at Columbia this year is from July 6 to 9. Delegates must be 14 years old or older and our county quota of delegates is 14 4-H members. The registration fee will be $10.50 and this will cover meals, lodging and insurance while at Club Week. There is need for some helpers in the dining room and for these members the fee will be $3.70 to cover lodging and insurance.

Application blanks are due back to the extension office by 5 p.m. Thursday, May 10, and those received after that date will not be considered. If you desire more information on State Club Week contact the extension office.

Project Meetings

This past week I managed to get in my first visit to a project meeting since coming to Pettis County and I was very overwhelmed at the way the leaders had their meeting set up. The meeting was a combination meeting of several members in woodwork and during the meeting besides individual instruction, time was taken to give demonstrations and do some work on judging. Here at the project meeting is the place to start members on these two important phases of club work. A 4-H member should be able to tell how he accomplished his goal and then be able to judge it critically afterwards.

4-H Square Dance

Tickets for the Pettis County 4-H Square Dance have gone out to all the 4-H clubs. I hope that the various club members are working to make this event a success. The council is the central body of all the 4-H clubs and to make it function we need the aid of all 31 clubs in the county. Remember also that your 4-H Council meets Monday, May 1, 8 p.m., at the courthouse assembly room.

National Awards

We have misguided the 4-H members and leaders on the county medal winners for the National Awards program. Any 4-H member may apply for the county medals corresponding to their projects, but they must be 14 years of age as of Jan. 1, 1956, and be in at least their third year of club work to be eligible to have their entry sent on for state consideration. We shall ask all those applying for county medals to fill out the Standard Report Form regardless of age or eligibility.

He takes to Air

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) —Bob Irvine, on his 16th birthday, made his first solo flight. He started taking lessons about a year ago.

His father, Ellis Irvine, says that when he was a little boy his interest was always in airplanes. As he grew older he made model planes. And he looks now, to the day he can join the Air Force and fly a jet.

Taller Students

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—A research project at Pennsylvania State University indicates that today's male college student is two inches taller and 13 pounds heavier than his 1930 counterpart. The study found that today's average freshman is 5-10 and weighs 150 pounds.

Sedalia Will Observe 'Mental Health Week' From April 29

The week of April 29 through May 5 has been proclaimed "Mental Health Week" in Sedalia and through-out the nation. Mayor Julian H. Bagby signed the proclamation which was presented at his office by Mrs. J. W. Boger, president of the Pettis County Medical Auxiliary, and Mrs. D. R. Edwards, Pettis County mental health chairman.

This is the first year that Sedalia has participated in this movement which is being sponsored this year by the Pettis County Medical Auxiliary. The nation-wide movement is sponsored by the National Association for Mental Health, a voluntary organization of nearly 500 state and local mental health associations covering practically every state in the Union, and co-sponsored by the National Institute of Mental Health, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Under the banner of the National Association for Mental Health, these state and local mental health associations together;

1. — Support and sponsor research to discover new and better ways to cure and prevent mental illness.

2. — Promote the training of expert personnel to staff the hospitals, clinics and research projects.

3. — Lead the campaign for good mental hospitals, where patients can get quick, skillful treatment.

4. — Set up information and referral centers to serve those seeking guidance on problems arising out of mental illness.

5. — Help to set up mental health clinics where children and adults can get treatment before their illness becomes serious.

6. — Work for more humane laws affecting the mentally ill.

7. — Combat false and superstitious notions about mental illness by using newspapers, radio, television and magazines to tell millions of people the facts.

The Pettis County Medical Auxiliary is carrying out the program toward "Mental Health Week" in Sedalia and Pettis County with the aid of many individuals outside the organization who are vitally interested and concerned in the mental health program and who wish to add their efforts to those of thousands of other individuals throughout the country who are working towards solutions of one of the nation's main health problems — that of mental illness.

Anyone interested in the mental health program may receive more information by contacting the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, the Pettis County chairman of mental health or by watching the local news media for further information.

Cadillac

Giving In...To His Practical Side!

We will tell you, in all honesty, that this gentleman was a little dubious when he first walked into the showroom.

There was no question, to be sure, about his wanting a Cadillac.

But, quite frankly, he wondered whether or not he was in a position to purchase a motor car as wonderful as the 1956 Cadillac.

But now he is learning some facts about this distinguished motor car that are removing the doubt from his mind.

First of all, he is learning that a Cadillac is relatively modest in its initial cost.

He is finding out about Cadillac's extraordinary dependability and freedom from repairs.

He is discovering the remarkable facts about Cadillac's traditionally wonderful resale value.

And, lastly, he is being told that, at this time of the year, his dealer is able to make Cadillac ownership even more practical than usual.

That's why we suspect that—having given in long ago to his heart—he is now giving in to his practical side. And that's a combination no man can resist!

If you have considered Cadillac the car in your future—but have postponed making the move for reasons of economy—we urge you to stop in soon.

As an experienced Cadillac dealer, we have established a wonderful relationship with fine-car motorists throughout the community. Our reputation for integrity is positive assurance of your satisfaction as a customer.

New Highway Toll Record Is Predicted

Last year 38,300 Americans lost their lives in automobile accidents, and from every indication the drivers of today's 61 million cars will cause a new all time high to be reached in traffic deaths this year. In addition to the present day traffic problem, an announcement from the office of Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, Missouri Highway Patrol superintendent, says that unless there is vast improvement in the driving habits of the nation's motorists, nothing short of a miracle will prevent highway deaths from rising to 53,000 annually in the next ten years. It is estimated that by 1956 there will be 82,000,000 vehicles jamming our streets and highways in a never ending flow and travelling a grand total of 825 billion miles a year.

With such staggering congestion as this to look forward to, it becomes abundantly clear that every mile of travel by the individual motorist will have to be done with professional accuracy.

The solution to this problem can't be expected to come from any one individual or any single group of individuals. The driving public can expect and will get from professional traffic engineers safer and more modern road systems. Certainly more traffic laws and regulations will be in the making. Enforcement which has been ever present, will of necessity be increased with larger and more authoritative policing units.

Last but not least, there must come into being a much more comprehensive driver improvement program than exists at the present time. Every motorist will be required to prove that he is mentally, physically and emotionally fit to operate a motor vehicle. There is every indication that the public in general is aware of the logic of making the individual driver measure up to rigid standards for the common good and common safety of all.

LONG TRESSES FOR VICTORY—This woman isn't rigging up a new hairdo. She's feeding bundles of hemp into a machine to make rope for rerigging the historic ship, Victory, at Chatham, England. The new rigging for Lord Nelson's flagship is being made in the same rope walk which supplied the ship's rope before the famous battle of Trafalgar in 1805. In that battle, the English defeated the Spanish and French fleets, Lord Nelson losing his life. The Victory is being rerigged for Navy Days in August.

House Subcommittee Inspects Plane Plant

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The House Armed Services subcommittee investigating military plane profits Friday inspected the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. plant.

The group, headed by Rep. Hebert (D-La), spent about four hours at the plant where jet fighters are made for the Navy and Air Force.

Hebert said the congressional group is interested in claims by the aircraft industry that it is not making enough profit on its investment under government contracts.

He said the subcommittee has formed no conclusions from its inspection here. The congressmen left for Dallas and Fort Worth.

Transit Workers End Strike Under Terms They Once Rejected

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An eight-day strike of transit workers who wanted more pay ended at 4 a.m. Saturday as operators returned to work under the terms of a contract they once rejected by a three vote margin.

The Walkout began at 4 a.m. Friday, April 13, and tied up the countywide operations of the transport Co., that carried 200,000 passengers daily. There were no incidents.

Issues in the dispute were settled yesterday when the union membership voted 1,293-368 to approve a two-year contract providing for 16-cent per hour pay increases, spread over the period, and improved vacation, pension and sick benefits. The fringe benefits were valued at 6-cents per hour.

Will Pro-Rate Fund Balance Of Playhouse

After several unsuccessful efforts to reorganize the now inactive Sedalia Community Playhouse, which was dissolved late in 1954, the former board of directors and its officers voted recently to pro-rate the balance of funds in the treasury and return this to the former active and sustaining membership.

According to Frank Evans, former president of the organization, each active and sustaining member, who purchased season tickets during the 1954-55 Community Playhouse season, is entitled to 40 percent of the original purchase price of that membership providing that he can show some evidence of the validity of his claim. The membership card itself will serve as title to the refund or a cancelled check for the season ticket will also make the refund valid.

Claims for the membership refunds will be honored until June 30, 1956. Any balance of the unclaimed funds will be donated to some worthy charity.

Requests for refunds may be directed to Mrs. Leonard Peabody, former treasurer of the Sedalia Community Playhouse, who resides at 814 West Fourth Street. It is suggested that the tickets or some other means of proof that season tickets were purchased during the 1954-55 season be mailed to Mrs. Peabody, who will in turn issue a check upon receipt of the request.

It was explained by Evans that the properties owned by the defunct organization will be donated to active drama groups in this area, such as high school, grade school, and community organizations. There are a number of set flats, hand properties, set lumber, and used tools in this group.

The Sedalia Community Playhouse voted to disband over a year ago when it was found that each production became more difficult to stage because the lack of numbers who cared to tryout for the plays. This was particularly true for the male roles of the Community Playhouse productions.

Any Woman Can Look Young At Any Age By Selecting Styles Which Flatter

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Any woman can look young at any age, if she puts her mind to it, says Nat Abelson, an expert in turning out fashions to flatter the wearer and fool the public.

"There aren't any old ladies any more," says Abelson. "Whistler's mother could have looked like his sister if she had just taken off that shawl, thrown away that rocking chair, splurged on a new hair-do and a new dress."

Abelson started making women's dresses shortly after his marriage, when his mother-in-law complained that she couldn't find any pretty clothes that fit her. He's been doing it ever since, with notable success. Here are some of his rules for selecting an outfit that will be flattering to the larger figure:

"First be honest with yourself, and recognize your best and worst points. Then choose your clothes to play up your good points and conceal your bad ones.

"Don't try to be too chic. Dress to look pretty instead.

"Stay away from mannish clothes and extreme styles. Don't wear big prints, but make the most of the flattery of small prints with a soft look.

"Select a flattering neckline. Call attention to the top. Soft touches about the neck and bodice are always flattering.

"Don't be ashamed of having a rounded feminine figure, and don't have a defeatist attitude about clothes.

"Remember that there's a flattering style for every figure, and select your clothes with your own best points in mind."

This season the most popular outfit for women of all ages, says Abelson, is the costume with full-length coat and matching dress, in twin prints — the coat in one fabric, the dress in another, the print the same.

Symington Appears Brightest Dark Horse in Demos' Race

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Some smart people now say it may be "Stu" when its all over at the Democratic convention.

Here's why they reason that the handsome, mercurial Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) shapes up as the brightest entry in the dark-horse stable:

Adlai has had it. Kefauver has too many enemies. The South would never accept Harriman. Lausche is too pro-Ike. So it'll fall to Stu, the only Democrat well enough known nationally to carry the ball.

There's more than the process of elimination favoring Symington's political future, too. He is working three of the decade's most successful political formulas.

First, his statements and his voting record label him an Ike-type middle-of-the-roader, all the rage with the public today. His stand on school segregation offends no one. He has supported about half of the Administration's measures. He voted against the natural gas bill.

Second, he's heading for the convention with the identical tactic Stevenson used to win the nomination in 1952.

"I'm not a candidate but I won't make the Sherman statement," he says.

The famous statement by Gen. William Sherman was that he wouldn't run if nominated and wouldn't serve if elected.

Third, Symington, if nominated, would run the same uninhibited "give-'em-hell" whistle - stop campaign which Harry Truman used with such startling success. That was how Symington won in Missouri in 1952.

Lean, active and fit at 54, Symington insists, "I've never felt better in my life."

There's another fact-of-life going for him. That's his big probe of whether too much economy has hurt the Air Force.

He blows his stack — a not infrequent act — when this is linked to presidential talk.

"Anyone who implies there's anything political in this investigation is a so-and-so," he insists. "All I'm after is facts."

If these facts are startling, or even interesting, he could be a shoo-in at Chicago, some wise ones say.

Symington, who owes his public career to Harry Truman, has many of the former President's characteristics. In stag political sessions his talk is earthy, blunt and to the point. He's loyal to friends and rough on foes.

"Stu worked in the Pentagon with Ike, didn't find him a superman then and doesn't think he's a superman now."

That's how a friend describes Symington's outspoken belief that the President will not be invincible at the polls.

Symington is also a hard, efficient worker in the Truman tradition. For example, when he was Secretary of the Air Force he'd always arrive early. But once when he learned that half of his staff was late that morning, he called them together and laid down the law.

"We arrive at eight a.m. because that's my rule," he grated. "And we stay late because we love our work," he concluded acidly.

This work attitude characterized his approach to his job as chairman of the National Security Resources Board and as "clean-up" administrator of the folding Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

And there's another side to the Missouri Senator which is an additional political plus. He loves to gad about and meet people. Although a moderate drinker he enjoys Washington social life and is a sought-after guest.

His wife Eve, a former Broadway singer and gracious, vivacious lady, is an asset to him. She is the daughter of former Rep. James W. Wadsworth (R-NY) and sister of Ambassador James Wadsworth, U.S. Delegate to the United Nations.

If Stu got the nomination he'd be the first successful business man to win this Democratic party honor. The son of an Amherst College professor, he worked as an office boy, a machine shop apprentice and served as a private in World War I.

He was graduated from Yale and then zoomed up as an executive in radio and steel industries.

He won Missouri citizenship in 1938 by moving to St. Louis to take over the ailing Emerson Electric Manufacturing Co.

The Symingtons have two married sons.

SEN. "STU" SYMINGTON: No Sherman statement for him.

Man Whose House Blew Away Can Get Canceled Bank Checks

VERSAILLES, Ind. (AP)—Tremp Robinson, whose house blew away in a tornado near Salem April 3, can pick up one of his canceled bank checks if he wants it.

John Scholey reported today he found a 1951 check on the State Bank of Salem, bearing Robinson's name, on his farm southeast of Napoleon, 60 miles northeast of Salem.

Patience Blended With Color Produces Tri-Dimensional Ma

SKOKIE, Ill. —(NEA)— A 21 year-old girl who has never seen a mountain or flown in an airplane has produced a "three-dimensional" merged relief map of the United States which is the pride of her firm.

Dorothy Nelson, a cartographer in Rand McNally's Skokie plant, did the art work on the firm's Centennial Merged Relief Map of the United States. It took her nearly a year to complete the project.

The map differs from ordinary ones in that a blending of the international map color scheme is used to show variations in the terrain previously shown by flat layers of color. The merging gives the map a sculptured, three-dimensional effect.

Dorothy did the coloring with pencils in eight basic colors. She had to blend the tones consistently in denoting identical elevations, since a minute change of color might signify a different height range. No abrupt color difference is present on the map as the terrain moves from one height into another, but instead, a gradual variance of tone denotes differences in elevation.

Dorothy, who liked to draw maps at Amundsen High School, Chicago, volunteered for the special project after working for the company only one year.

She did all coloring and blending herself to assure uniformity.

"We were running behind schedule," Dorothy said, "and it looked like I was going to need help to complete the map. I convinced everyone, though, that only one person should do the job in order to keep the technique the same."

At 21, Dorothy is probably the youngest person to have achieved such stature in a field made complex by graphic arts techniques and technical improvements.

She insists that a person must have a knowledge of art and possess patience to be successful in the map-making field. Then she adds "You had better underline 'patience' three times."

Texan Is Acquitted On Charge of Murder

SULPHUR, Okla. (AP) — David Fred Hagler Jr., 38, a self-admitted Fort Worth, Tex., playboy, was acquitted last night by a District Court jury of a murder charge involving the death of an unknown man.

The body of a man which has never been identified was found in a smouldering station wagon on a lonely mountain road near Davis more than 18 months ago.

The jury of 11 men and 1 woman deliberated just over five hours before reaching the verdict, freeing Hagler, a former $23,000-a-year asphalt salesman.

After the verdict, jurors said that one point caused the acquittal decision. That was whether the man was dead or alive at the time the vehicle was burned.

During the five-day trial, the state built its case on circumstantial evidence, asking life imprisonment for what it contended was a $300,000 life insurance plot. The state claimed Hagler substituted a man for himself and burned his former wife's station wagon Oct. 10,1954.

Winter Driving Tests

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A lot of devices have been dreamed up to give automobiles more traction in ice and snow, but ordinary chains are still the kingpins.

That's one of the conclusions reached by Prof. Archie Easton of the University of Wisconsin in 10 years of testing many devices. He is director of motor vehicle research at the college of engineering.

Research revealed that rinforced chains increase the driving efficiency of regular tires on ice 409 per cent, on hard-packed snow 313 per cent, and increase their breaking efficiency on ice 153 per cent and on hard-packed snow 58 per cent.

Winter tread mud-snow tires usually give at least 40 percent more efficiency in driving and 21 per cent more in braking on ice, and 71 per cent more efficiency in driving and 33 more in braking on hard-packed snow.

Sanders in front of regular tires increase their driving efficiency 270 per cent and their breaking efficiency 16 per cent on ice, and their driving efficiency 32 per cent on hard-packed snow. But the sanders do no good at all in braking on snow, the tests show.

THE WAY YOU WOULD LOVE TO LOOK DURING the warm and hot weather takes careful planning now. You can't afford to wait until the first hot days to select your summer wardrobe. I think most of you realize that summer is one of the hardest seasons to always have the appropriate garment for all occasions. Crisp, fresh cotton dresses selected early will assure you of flattering lines with fine details. You will find polished cottons, ginghams, voiles, silk and cotton combinations, pique and many other fabrics to choose from this season. By selecting them early and taking care of minor alterations you will be ready for the carefree days that aren't too far away. Select your cotton lingerie while you are selecting your dresses and separates so you will have the right slips and petticoats to wear with them. Right now is a wonderful time to select your separates too. Crisp baby cords, broadclothes as well as doesheen is popular for now and all summer.

S-C Tigers Grab Grudge Track Win Over Jeff City

Bengals Look to CMC Meet After Evening Score With Jays; Sweet Springs Third in Triangular Here

(By Vic Van Dyne)

Things were evened up Friday when the Smith-Cotton Tigers beat Jefferson City and Sweet Springs in the triangular meet held at the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium. Jefferson City had outscored the Tigers at Columbia recently, and Friday the Tigers moved ahead of the Jays in the local clash.

The Tigers scored 73 points; Jefferson City 70¾; and Sweet Springs 6¾ points.

Interesting to note, however, is the scoring of the two Central Missouri Conference teams. The Jays had 10 first places only two second place winners, eight in third place and six fourth place scorers. The Tiger thinclads came through with only four first places, but their second and third place spots brought up their points, making 12 second place winners and seven third places and two fourths.

Point honors to individual contestants went to Charles "Van" Van Dyne with 21 and Webb of Jefferson City with 15. "Van" tallied three firsts in the 120-high hurdles, 180 low hurdles and the shot put, two seconds in the high jump and broad jump. Webb's firsts were in the 100-yard dash, broad jump and the 220-yard dash.

Sweet Springs gave a token appearance. The Sweet Springs team coming from a much smaller school put up a good show for their school with the training they have received todate, with a game bunch of fellows testing the strength of the two larger schools.

Recently the Jays took the triangular meet at Columbia in which the Tigers played second fiddle in this competition. The win Friday evens the teams up in the meets in which they have opposed each other. Both teams are battling to get in condition for the Conference track and field meet to be held at Kemper Military Academy at Boonville on Tuesday, May 8.

The Tigers next meet has been set for Monday night instead of Tuesday as previously announced. The triangular affair is to be run at the Jennie Jaynes Stadium starting at 7:30 o'clock, between Clinton, Warrensburg Public High School and the Smith-Cotton Tigers.

The meet was changed to Monday because of a meet scheduled at Clinton on Wednesday.

Sedalia Athletics Organize; Buddy Thomas Is Manager

The Sedalia Athletics, long absent from local diamond action, have been revived and semi-pro baseball at its best will return to Sedalia's Liberty Park for the 1956 season.

Since 1948 Sedalia has been lacking the outstanding semi-pro club for which it became noted during the past decades. Until Friday night when the Sedalia Athletic Association was formed, the high hopes of players and fans alike for a strong semi-pro representative seemed destined for another disappointment.

More than 30 players and fans were on hand for the formation of the Athletic Association which was originated with the primary intent of providing Sedalia with a hustling, colorful aggregation, capable of playing a top flight brand of ball every time it takes the field.

Businessman Ivan Berry, long known for his contributions to local baseball efforts and civic endeavors, was elected president of the Association by acclamation.

John "Buddy" Thomas, one of the area's favorite and most talented players, was selected to serve as player-manager of the Athletics.

In assuming leadership of the organization, Berry stated that the assistance and support of city officials, the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Kiwanis Club, Rotary Club, Optimist Club, various other organizations, local merchants, area news services and all baseball loving citizens would be needed and solicited to make the project a success.

During the coming week Civic Club presidents and Chamber of Commerce officials will be requested to attend a meeting called by Berry. At this meeting he will explain the purpose of the Sedalia Athletic Association and expose the bare facts concerning problems of finance related to fielding a sharp ball club and other obstacles which Sedalia teams have encountered in past years. The Association expressed hope that the required assistance would stem from this meeting.

As many fans will recall, Berry sponsored the Sedalia Athletics of 1948. This team, considered by many as the finest diamond product Sedalia has ever known, hung up a commendable 27-7 season's record against the state's roughest competition and nationally known barnstorming nines. In the state semi-pro championships, they dropped a 1-0 decision to the Jefferson City Red Birds in the final contest, finishing second.

The Athletics hope to open the 1956 home season at Liberty Park on Sunday afternoon, May 6, against a rival club yet to be announced.

The Athletics will be outfitted in smart gray uniforms with royal blue lettering, stocking, and cap.

The Association was in complete accord to make every effort to avoid booking games against 'weak sister' opponents. Considering dull, run-away contests as detrimental to baseball interest, the Association stated "for the benefit of local baseball patrons and for the welfare of the team, only proven and known competition will be booked."

Mentioned as possible opponents were the Jefferson City Red Birds, Holden Merchants, Springfield Generals and Pattons, Joplin, Preacher Roe's squad out of West Plains, and clubs from the Kansas City, St. Louis and St. Joseph areas. Contracts also are being made with various teams in the Negro American League, including Memphis, Kansas City, Indianapolis and Birmingham, and with the House of David and other touring professionals.

Initial Spring Drill To Be Held At Park By Athletics Today

Manager "Buddy" Thomas has issued the initial call for spring practice to local baseballers desiring to tryout with the Sedalia Athletics.

Hoping for a warm, sunny day, Thomas will start putting his charges through the paces at 1 p. m. today.

Thomas declared that no positions were filled and that his system of selecting a squad wouldn't be related to the cut-and-dried method.

"I'll be looking for hustle, talent and desire when I select the players. Those three elements will be required from the opening practice until after the final game" he emphasized.

SIX HOURS OF GOOD LUCK — The past week C. W. Gordy, 1723 East Seventh, and Don Carver, 914 East 11th, spent about six hours on the upper arm of the Lake of the Ozarks snagging spoonbills. Their take was six fish, the heaviest of the catch being 65 pounds. They started from Burk's Resort, motored up the Osage to near Fairfield and began their trolling with snag hooks, resulting in the six hours of real sport and a good return for their efforts. Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

THE Sedalia Industrial League is having its ups-and-downs. Last week I reported it was on the brink of death and a "shot in the arm" had revived it. Then Monday it took a turn for the worse and the League looked as if it was headed to be doomed. Then Friday night a stimulant was administered and it will carry on for sure. At least that's the last report.

It seems the response for the meeting Monday night was disheartening to those who were pushing it when the lack of team management and sponsorship was lacking—lacking but the failure of presence at the meeting. The men attending the meeting batted it around and made a decision to call upon the City Council for help.

But a meeting called for Friday night brought some needed results. Kenneth Tucker agreed to taking on the presidency—but with help—and William Walker took on the vice-presidency with William Kindle as secretary. But others on hand gave their word to "pitch in" and help and the burden would not be on any one person's shoulders.

There is to be a meeting Tuesday night at Jefferson School at which time the teams entering will pay the entry fee. The schedule for the season will at that time be drawn up. Only teams represented will be considered for this year. Hence your presence at this meeting is most important.

At least the League isn't going to die for want of workers, but these men have volunteered to come through with the necessary work. The men are going to endeavor to sell some advertising time for the loud speaking system to obtain funds to carry on the program which is not too expensive but needs money for balls, bats, lights, and ground work.

Already several business men have offered their help financially for this season, but there is still needed several others who are willing to pay a few dollars to help out.

Another thing, fans sitting around the ball park should dig a little deeper in their pockets and drop in a quarter or two when the hat is passed. Those contributions are used to pay for the big part of the lights. Don't turn your head as the hat is passed. Just think of the entertainment you are getting for a night for a quarter or two.

AFTER the meeting last Monday night the group decided to appeal to the City Council and they went to the City Hall and took their turn at the regular council meeting. Members of the Council didn't disapprove of their appearance and several are in sympathy with the program.

They had been given encouragement from the Park Board several days before and the only relapse was when the parties directly interested failed to remember the meeting night and didn't show up. Monday's appearance at the Council meeting, I do not believe was a lost cause.

George Thompson was chosen as the spokesman of the group and seven or eight softball players of the League appeared at the Council meeting, only a few minutes after they had met at the school house. Mayor Julian H. Bagby asked if anyone in the audience desired to say something and Thompson walked to the front of the room and offered the appeal of the group.

Thompson asked the Council if it would hire some person to take over the Industrial League as a Recreational Director. "It will be a step in the right direction and along the lines of the Democratic platform for recreation for Sedalia," he said.

It was like dropping an atomic bomb. He cut it short and dropped it right in the middle of the Council which hadn't had any discussion or time to even give it any thought. I assure you it wasn't any surprise and the Council didn't object in hearing the appeal.

As a matter of fact it is right down the line of thinking of Mayor Bagby, who does have a program which he hopes to get through to Sedalians. He has a plan for Recreation and Forestry and such.

THE MAYOR'S plan would be to have Sedalia vote a mill or two tax for such a program. This money would be used to further Recreation in Sedalia like many other cities in Missouri now has, and would also be used in rebuilding Sedalia's landscaping, parks and so on.

If this could be voted, a Director of Recreation could be employed year-round. Thus, recreations could be set up in Sedalia not only for our youth but for young and old alike. Such a program has met with tremendous success at Marshall and is directed by Bill Lyons, well known former Marshall high school coach.

From information I have received Marshall spends in the neighborhood of $24,000 for the recreational program. This is not positive but I was told the city pays half and the school system half, thus the program is worked jointly for a great benefit to all.

There is no doubt the City Council will weigh over the remarks of Thompson, and I am sure they will do something to help the League carry on this year.

It is a good program, it does a great deal for a lot of fellows who like to play softball, and it does give good clean sports entertainment to a lot of people who drive over to Housel Park to watch the games.

A's Option Glenn Cox To Columbus In IL

KANSAS CITY, April 21—(AP)—Pitcher Glenn Cox was optioned today by the Kansas City Athletics to Columbus in the International League.

Cox, a 24-year-old righthander, was sent down on a 24-hour recall basis. Last year, he won 11 and lost 5 with Montreal in the International League.

The Athletics also announced pitcher Allen Romberger had been optioned to Minneapolis of the American Association.

On Golf

By FRANKIE REYNOLDS

The objective of the Smith-Cotton golf team to sweep through another undefeated season has been made obvious this spring, and to date there's been no opposition the Tigers have met who hasn't been a slaughter victim of the wand the locals are wielding.

The S-C swingers chalked up three victories the past week, eliminating a strong Fulton team 9½-5½, and made it three in a row Saturday at Marshall with an 11½-½ win.

At their present pace the Sedalians should have little trouble in completing a successful campaign to defend their Central Missouri Conference golf championship.

Smith-Cotton linksters are playing their home meets on the Countryview public course, formerly Elm Hills.

—o—

Golfing activity is gaining momentum daily at the Sedalia Country Club and by next weekend will get into full swing.

Opening the golf slate for the season at the Club next Sunday will be a blind bogey tournament. Prizes to be awarded the winners in the tourney will be five one-day spectator tickets to the $25,000 Carlings Open golf tournament in St. Louis May 10, sponsored by the Carlings Brewery Co.

Then on June 14th the Country Club will serve host in the opening match of the annual Inter-City tournaments between the ten-man Country Club teams of Sedalia, Jefferson City, Columbia and Fulton. Sedalia, Columbia and Fulton will be gunning to dethrone the Jeff City swingers who took the Inter-City crown last year. The teams will play return matches at the respective courses of Jeff City Country Club June 21, Fulton C. C. on June 28, and Columbia C. C. on July 12.

—o—

About 15 Sedalia women—potential golfers—responded to the call of golf Thursday and met at the Countryview course for a professional instruction session.

Continuing the increased enthusiasm for golf among women of late, the group was instructed on the fundamentals of the game by Gene Holmberg, Kansas City, a golf instructor representing the Wilson Sporting Goods Co.

During and following the lessons, the women, members of the WAFB Officers' Wives Club, displayed much interest in the game and anticipation of furthering their golf this summer.

All ladies interested in golf are invited to participate in the instruction sessions at Countryview which will be held about once every two to three weeks, the date of the second meeting to be announced later.

McIntyre, Dobie Defend Mat Record

TUESDAY'S WRESTLING CARD
National Guard Armory—8:15

FEATURE MATCH
(Tag Team Match)

Joe Dusek, 233, Omaha, and Mike DiBiase, 235, Lincoln, Neb., vs. "Red" McIntyre, 228, Otterville, Mo., and Gentleman Jim Dobie, 225, Detroit. Best two out of three falls, or a one-hour- time limit.

SEMI-WINDUP

Cortes Reece, 225, Wichita, Kan., vs. Buddy Jackson, 230, St. Louis. (All-Negro heavyweight match). Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

SPECIAL MATCH

Mike DiBiase vs. "Red" McIntyre. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

EXTRA ATTRACTION

Eddie Foy's Boxing Cats: "Frisco Kid" and "Rocky Mariana."

The year's most rugged heavyweight tag team match is on tap for the Sedalia Armory wrestling ring Tuesday night when "Red" McIntyre and Gentleman Jim Dobie defend their undefeated team record in the featured attraction.

Back in the challenging role will be villainous Joe Dusek, leader of the Omaha mat "wrecking crew." Dusek will bring along a fellow Nebraskan—Mike DiBiase—as his partner in a renewed effort to gain revenge over the popular McIntyre-Dobie duo.

Dusek and Orton came to blows moments after the match, much to the glee of the capacity crowd that witnessed the heated match. Later Dusek branded Orton as a "blundering, no-count wrestler." Direct responsibility for the team loss was placed on Orton.

That Dusek is definitely out to dump McIntyre and Dobie from the unbeaten ranks in tag competitions is clearly evident by Joe's selection of a partner for Tuesday night's return clash here. DiBiase is a talented competitor and models his offensive style along the same rugged lines as the Dusek clan.

DiBiase, in accepting Joe's partnership offer, has lined himself up against two of the most popular heavyweights to appear in Sedalia this season. Just how well DiBiase will be received is questionable for the Sedalia area mat fans are solidly behind the McIntyre-Dobie team. Apparently DiBiase doesn't care too much for popularity, just so he wins matches.

More fast-paced action is assured in Tuesday's semi-windup when the Middle West's two greatest Negro heavyweights collide in a battle for wrestling supremacy of their race. Pitted in this match are Cortes Reece, Kansas Negro champion from Wichita, and Buddy Jackson, a top-rated Missourian from St. Louis. It is the first Negro heavyweight match ever to be presented here.

A special attraction, in addition to the regular three wrestling matches, will be the presentation of Eddie Foy's world-famous boxing cats. Matchmaker Gust Karras said he is bringing Eddie and the boxing cats here as a "bonus" attraction in appreciation for the splendid fan support. The boxing cats have appeared on seven "Super Circus" programs on TV.

The Detroit Tigers have not had a 20-game winner since 1948 when southpaw Hal Newhouser won 21.

Record Performances Expected—

Drake Relays Spectacle Next Weekend; Bob Karnes At Reins

DES MOINES, April 21—(AP)—The Drake Relays, given impetus by the Olympic year, have their 47th running next weekend and there is talk of such spectacular performances as a 100-yard dash under :09.5, an unprecedented 7-foot high jump and 60-feet plus in the shot put.

Director Bob Karnes, former Sedalia Smith-Cotton track coach, who only a few years ago was a member of winning Kansas University relay teams here, isn't doing a thing to discourage such conversation.

This is Karnes' first year as supervisor of the tash of assembling the track and field talent. If the weather is clear and warm, Bob's inaugural show may be a sensational success.

Drake claims its fastest sprint field in history. The entiries in the 100-yard dash include Jim Golliday of Northwestern, co-holder of the world mark of :09.3; Bob Morros, the Abilene Christian (Tex.) sophomore who has a windblown :09.1 and Dave Sime of Duke whose best is :09.4.

Golliday may be scratched from the 100 because of a leg injury but officials believe that even without Jim the Drake mark of :09.5 will be bettered. The record, oldest on the books here, was set by the late Roland Locke of Nebraska in 1926 and tied by Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette in 1932 and Jesse Owens of Ohio State in 1935.

An unusual procedure has been taken to assist in the smashing of the record. Since year after year the sprinters often have had to run into stiff southerly winds, arrangements have been made for either a north or south start in the dash. Wind-blown or not, the record must go, officials feel.

The buzz about a 7-foot high jump develops around the appearance of Ernie Shelton, ex-Southern California, in an exhibition. Shelton, over the bar 20 times at 6-10, has a peak mark of 6-11¼.

Drake will be vastly disappointed if it doesn't get a shot put toss beyond 60 feet from either Parry O'Brien, another former Southern California athlete who holds the world mark at 61-5½, or Bill Nieder of Kansas who did 60-3 a week ago.

Other individual events are loaded with top-flight hands, including Bill Gutowski of Occidental College, Los Angeles, who has a 15¼ mark in the pole vault; Les Bitner of Kansas, winner of the National Collegiate javelin throw in 1955 with a record 246-1; Carl Vereen of Georgia Tech, who came up with a Drake record of 172-11 a year ago in the discus throw, and Bernie Allard of Notre Dame, defending champion in the high jump.

Byrl Thompson of Minnesota, now 29, will attempt to become the first four-time winner at Drake. He won the discus as a soldier representative of Camp Grant in 1946 and repeated his championships as a Minnesota entry in 1949 and 1950. He is back in school again, ready for his fourth try here.

Top teams in the university relays include Kansas, Oklahoma A & M, Iowa, Duke, Michigan State, Baylor, Syracuse, Rice, Oklahoma, Missouri, Notre Dame and Occidental, Los Angeles.

College headliners include Abilene Christian, Emporia (Kan.) Teachers with its great Billy Tidwell; Arizona State (Tempe), Miami (Ohio) and Howard Payne (Tex.)

S-C Golfers Embarrass Marshall

Take 11½-½ Win Saturday For Third Straight Triumph

Smith-Cotton breezed to its third straight golf victory in as many meets Saturday when the Tigers stunned the Marshall high school golf team 11½ to ½ on the Marshall course.

Gilbert "Gib" Roberts, captain of the Sedalia squad, led the CMC circuit champs to the win, taking medalist honors with a 37-42—79 for the 18 holes. Low man for Marshall was Berg with 39-43—82.

Clayton Craig, although collecting more than his share of the points, was the only S-C member not to whitewash his opponent. Marshall's James came through to save face for the hosts and broke up a possible blanking by mustering one-half point of the possible three points against Craig. Craig took the remaining 2½ points. Smith-Cotton's Roberts, Vic Van Dyne and Ronnie Turner swept all three points from their opponents.

The Tiger golfers will meet the Columbia Kewpies again Monday in a dual meet at Columbia's municipal course.

Individual hole-by-hole scores of the match (points won in parenthesis) for the 18 holes were:

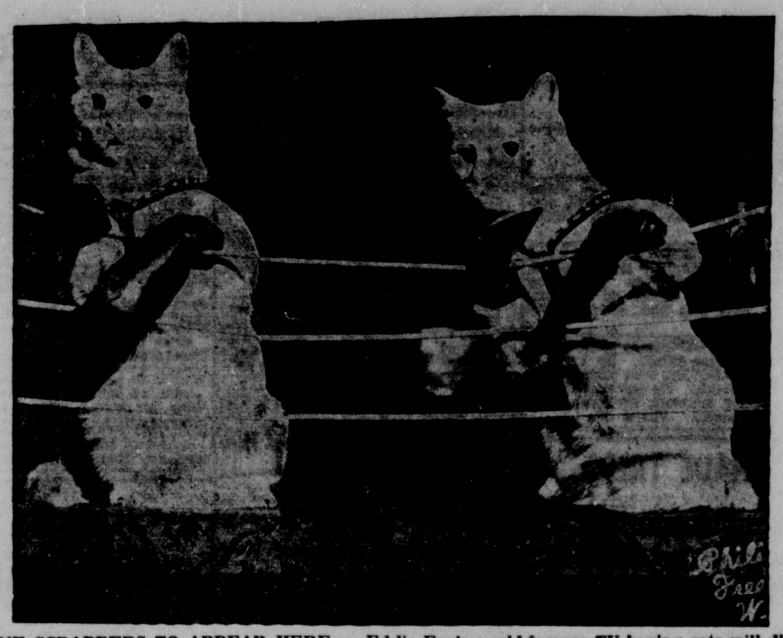
Billy Maxwell Leads In Hot Springs Open

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 21 (AP) — Third - round pressure and tricky pin placements sent scores up a notch or two today and Billy Maxwell's 2-under-par 70 was good enough for a one-stroke lead in the $15,000 Hot Springs Open golf tournament.

George Bayer of Cincinnati, used his tremendous tee shots to good advantage in compiling his third straight 68—good for a tie for the second spot with Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Pete Fleming of Hot Springs, Maxwell and Wininger had started the day in a 3-way tie for first place at 133. Fleming slipped to a 74 and had to settle for a 207 tie for fourth place with Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, Tex., and Buster Cupit of Ruston, La. — four strokes behind Maxwell.

Cary Middlecoff of Dallas, Tex., who said he was spraying both iron and wood shots, shot a one-over-par 73 and was in seventh place at 208, five shots behind Maxwell.



FELINE SCRAPPERS TO APPEAR HERE — Eddie Foy's world-famous TV boxing cats will display their "fistic" wares in a special bonus attraction in adition to the regular three matches on the April 24 wrestling program in the Armory. Legion Matchmaker Gust Karras said he's bringing the boxing cats here as a special appreciation bonus to the Sedalia area mat fans for their excellent support. The boxing cats have been featured on the national TV program, "Super Circus."

Stock Car Races Start at Clinton Wednesday, May 2

The Golden Valley Speedway at Clinton, will hold its spring opening for Stock Car racing Wednesday night May 2, weather conditions permitting. The first event of the night is scheduled for the time trials at 7:30 o'clock.

The Golden Valley Speedways which began successful operations in 1955 have an array of entries already signed for the opening night. They include the latest 1956 designs in "Doodle Bugs".

Owners of the various vehicles have reported to the management they have their cars "tuned - up" and they are much faster than their cars of the previous season. Thus the fans are assured of more thrills than seen on the track at anytime in the 1955 season.

It was explained the new 1956 "Doodle Bugs" are stock cars revamped, but there are numerous entries of stock cars of older models and several which were only recently purchased by drivers desiring to start the season off in a "fresh" car.

The operators of the Speedway have posted a guarantee purse of $500 for the event in addition to other monies from entry fees.

Alfred Hall and Jewell Kidwell, of Sedalia, who successfully conducted various stock car racing events over Central Missouri have been secured as the track officials for the opening and the season.

The highways near Clinton are being appropriately marked for the route to the Speedway track which is west of Clinton.

Six different horses had the lead in the rich Florida Derby but once Needles got to the front it was all over.

On October 9, 1905, McGraw's Giants defeated Mack's Athletics 3 to 0 in the first modern World Series baseball game.

At this meeting the club name will be selected and the Constitution and By-Laws will be drawn.

Already a plan for a free flight contest is underway to be scheduled for the first part of May. Flyers are requested to get their entries in as soon as possible.

Any person interested but unable to attend the meeting, can call at the Hill's Hobby House, 703 South Ohio or call phone 27.

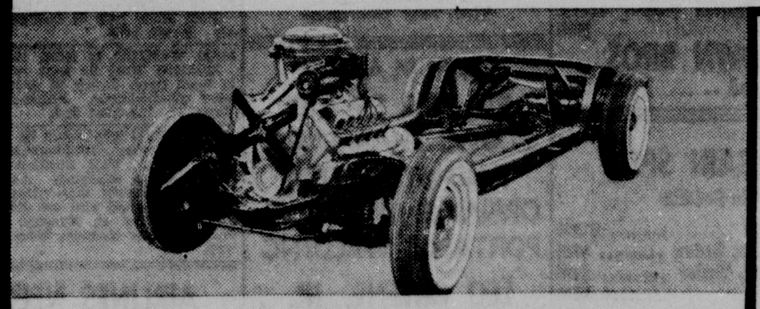
SIZZLING PERFORMANCE? Don't let 'em kid you! Hot talk doesn't change the cold facts: Dodge is America's performance champion! Get behind the wheel and...

DISCOVER THE DIFFERENCE IN DODGE!

It licked the pants off American stock cars and made expensive European sports cars blush! In 14 days of continuous around-the-clock high-speed performance tests at the Bonneville Salt Flats, the '56 Dodge shattered every record in the book—306 official AAA records in all, including 27 world's unlimited records held by European sports cars!

Whipped all cars at Daytona Beach, too! 260 hp. aircraft-type V-8 engine outperformed all cars (regardless of price or horsepower) in the recent NASCAR acceleration runs.

Just push a button and GO! A touch of your finger commands the surging break-away power of the brawny Dodge engine. Dodge push-button driving is the safest, surest, most mechanically perfect driving feature ever developed.



Dodge is built for top performance, endurance and dependability! The big, extra-strong chassis boasts a frame with rugged box-section side rails. Front and rear suspension are designed for smooth, level ride and road-hugging stability. Oriflow shock absorbers give precise control. Roller bearings make steering easier and more responsive. Rear springs are "toed-in" to resist side-sway.

Proper Speech May Require Special Help

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Junior's talk about the "widdle wabbit" may be amusing while he's a toddler. But if he isn't saying "little rabbit" by the time he's 7, he should be taken to a speech therapist.

Richard Hendricks, head of the University of Maryland's new speech and hearing science program, makes the suggestion in discussing a growing problem among the nation's school children.

"It is important in the public schools to remember," said Hendricks, "that there are not only 'Johnnies' who can't read, but also 'Johnnies' who can't hear, who can't think too well and who can't talk very well."

To get some idea of the extent of the problem, the speech and science division set up clinics in 12 Maryland areas to examine children from more than 200 schools.

The findings: Five per cent had either speech or hearing problems or both.

The remedy: In most cases, an extensive program of examination followed by a carefully devised plan of individual treatment for each case. "There is nothing spectacular about it," says Hendricks. "There are no short cuts."

The prospects: Of 50 persons enrolled in the university's new speech and hearing science division, now in its second year, only 10 are undergraduates. The division has facilities for 10 times that many. The need for specialists in the field, Hendricks declares, is "unlimited."

"Children who cannot speak or hear constitute the largest single group of children's personal problems," he says.

It is a problem of intensity as well as a problem of size.

If Johnny's eyes are weak a pair of glasses will enable him to see the blackboard, and his classmates still accept him as normal.

But if he is afflicted by stuttering or a similar handicap his path to acceptance and understanding is more likely to be long and tortuous.

One reason for this is that scientists still don't agree on why he stutters.

One school, Hendricks points out, believes the basic cause is neurological or physiological—that is, one or more defects in the many intricate body parts which produce the marvel of human speech. Another believes the basic cause is psychological. A third believes it may be a combination of the first two.

Besides the stutterer, there is the child who doesn't speak well because he doesn't hear well. He may accurately reproduce the sound he hears, but he either doesn't hear enough of them or his ear distorts those he does hear.

Other types of speech difficulties may be caused by cerebral palsy, cleft palate or peculiar defects which prevent proper articulation—the omission of certain letters, like "cool" instead of "school", or substitution of some letters for others, like Junior's trouble with the "widdle wabbit."

Twins Mean Hard Work For Mother

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M.D.
AP Newsfeatures

In the beginning the care of twins is a trememdous amount of work. Maybe twins really are not more than twice the work of a single baby but they certainly seem to be.

Twins are likely to be small at birth; often they are premature, and because they are tiny, they may require food at shorter intervals than larger babies. A three hour schedule of feedings around the clock is not unusual. That means eight feedings per baby per 24 hours or 16 feedings for the two of them. Little babies are slow eaters and really need to be picked up and held while they eat. It may take close to an hour for each feeding — that makes 16 hours out of each 24 for feedings alone! Where is the time coming from to do the laundry, make the formula, keep the house reasonably respectable, get the meals, and maybe look after an older child as well and squeeze in a few hours for sleep in each 24 hours too! The answer is that no one woman can do it all especially if she is trying to get her strength back after childbirth. The mother of twins needs help at home.

If you know before the birth that you are going to have twins, make some kind of a plan for extra help. A grandmother, a sister, an aunt who either is not working or who would be willing to give up her job for a few months may be your answer.

If you haven't any relatives arrange for some paid help even if you have to borrow some money to swing it. It's better to spend money for paid help than to collapse from exhaustion.

The first three months are the hardest, and the most important time to have extra help, though it would be desirable to have an extra pair of hands in the house for a full six months.

Twins always seem to wake up at the same moment, and both yell for immediate attention. If there are two people in the home, both babies can be picked up and fed. Then you hope both will sleep and there will be a little time for some other chores before the next feeding is due.

If mother is alone the best she can do is pick up one twin for feeding and prop a bottle for the other one. It would be wise to shift about so that one baby does not have to have a propped bottle more than half the time. It is always better for a baby to be picked up and cuddled as he is fed, but it cannot be done with twins unless there is some one to help mother when both babies are hungry at the same moment.

After the first six months the pressure begins to subside. The babies will be on a less frequent feeding schedule, they will play by themselves some of the time they are awake. In fact twins entertain each other and demand less attention from mother as they get a little older.

Nurse Dies, Priest Is Injured in Crash

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Williams, 39-year-old practical nurse, was killed and a Cahtolic priest injured Friday night in a headon automobile collision in St. Louis County.

Police said the accident occurred on Clayton Road, one-half mile east of Lindbergh Road. The Rev. Joseph B. Winter, 42, director of Catholic charities, suffered a serious head injury.

Playwright, Movie Writer Dies at 60

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles MacArthur, 60, playwright and movie writer and husband of Helen Hayes, the actress, died today.

He entered New York Hospital last Wednesday suffering from nephritis, a kidney ailment, and severe anemia.

The co - author of the famous play, "The Front Page," a drama of the newspaper business, lapsed into unconsciousness shortly before he died at 7:01 a.m Miss Hayes was with him at his death.

His illness became known when the actress canceled a May 6 television appearance in the play, "The Cradle Song."

MacArthur's collaborator with "The Front Page" was Ben Hecht. He and Hecht teamed t write the movie "The Scoundrel" for which they won a Hollywood Oscar.

Before MacArthur became known for his theatrical writings, he was a newspaperman in Chicago and New York From that experience came "The Front Page" a rowdy drama of the newspaper business.

His deftness with words probably had a good deal with triggering his romance with Miss Hayes who at the time of their meeting was a star in the Broadway hit "Coquette."

The scene was a party at the home of artist Neysa McMein. MacArthur approached the actress, munching from a bag of peanuts. He offered her some, saying "I wish they were emeralds." They were married Aug. 17, 1925.

Early English law looked upon husband and wife as but one person, and allowed but one will between them, vested in the husband, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Blasting Cap Is Deadly Toy For Children

"Accidents of one kind or another are the principle killers of children, and although motor vehicle accidents are the leading cause of all deaths of children between the ages of 1 and 14 years, many other types of accidents help to swell the yearly toll of young lives needlessly taken."

With these words Col. Hugh H. Waggoner predicated a yearly warning on the dangers of handling blasting caps.

"If you should ever find a blasting cap, don't touch it," was the advice of the Patrol superintendent, and he added, "this warning should not only be made perfectly clear to children but it may well be applied to any one who is not experienced in the use of explosives."

The colonel said that most blasting caps were small, metallic cylinders about as big around as a pencil and from one to five inches long. A cap may or may not have a fuse attached. Some are electric and have plain or colored wires at one end. They are usually bright aluminum or copper. All of them are charged with sensitive explosives that can be set off by careless handling, shock or heat. They are used to explode dynamite.

"When the cap explodes," Col. Waggoner said, "small bits of metal fly in all directions. The sharp fragments can cripple or blind and in some cases cause death."

"Scores of boys and girls are hurt in blasting cap accidents every year," the Patrol chief said, "and the pity of it is that many of the children are only bystanders when another child foolishly plays with a blasting cap."

Tractor-Trailer Hits Pickup Truck Near St. Charles; One Dead

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP) — Ephram Hornberger, 42, of Winfield, Mo., was killed Friday night when the pickup truck in which he was riding was hit by a tractor-trailer on U.S. Highway 40 three miles west of St. Charles.

The driver of the pickup truck, 42-year-old Walter Boone of Winfield, and a passenger, Oliva Childress, 49, also of Winfield, suffered minor injuries. All three persons in the pickup truck were Negroes.

State police said they had stopped or slowed down on a bridge to see another car which had run off the road when the tractor-trailer, driven by Otto H. Bailey, 46, of Hannibal, Mo., struck them from the rear. Hornberger was thrown from the truck and pinned against a light pole. Bailey escaped injury.

Free Baby Sitting on the Mezzanine—

The Third Annual Jaycees Home Show Will Start This Tuesday at Convention Hall

The Sedalia Jaycees' third annual Home Show will open Tuesday afternoon April 24 for a three-day run with all available display space taken by area merchants. Admission is free and the doors will be open from 2:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

An extra good show is expected by the Jaycees this year with everything on display that will make a home beautiful and comfortable to live in. Special musical entertainment on the stage is also being planned this year.

Free baby-sitting will be a feature of this year's show. The Jaycee-Ettes will be in charge of the "Kiddie-Korner" in the north end of the mezzanine floor. Hours for the baby sitting are from 2:30 p.m. to 5 and 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Another added feature this year will be a ladies ready-to-wear display in the south end of the mezzanine. In this section will be a "Wheel of Fortune" which will render many useful prizes such as hose, steak knives, serving platters and several other items. A coupon clipped from the Sunday Democrat or given away in the Connor-Wagoner Store will be the "price" of playing the wheel.

Also on the mezzanine will be a lounge to rest those weary feet.

Many new modern innovations will be on display such as the electronic oven which will cook without "heat." All cooking in the oven is automatic and the utensil can be picked up with the bare hand after cooking is finished.

Many new modern innovations will be on display such as the electronic oven which will cook

Something else that is relatively new on the market that will be on display is the portable TV set that can be plugged in anywhere. The set has an 8½-inch screen and is light and compact.

In keeping with the time of the year will be displays of lawn mowers, garden tools, handy-man tools and all kinds of out door barbeque equipment. Along with the out door theme will be sporting goods and outboard motors.

With summer just around the corner the air cooling equipment on display will be of interest to many.

Another item that is new on the scene is an informative booth sponsored by the medical profession.

Other interesting items to home owners will be new type carpets made from man-made fibers from which stains can be removed by saturating with bleach, new dust mops that aren't troubled with static electricity and a wide variety of appliances.

For those who are thinking of building a new home or remodeling the present home, building materials will get their share of the limelight. All types of paint, siding, storm windows, wood texture wall materials, furnaces and plumbing fixtures.

Asks Night and Day Patrol Against Fire At Jefferson Barracks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fire Chief Otto Brezler of suburban Clayton has called for a day and night fire patrol at the Jefferson Barracks public housing project.

Brexler criticized potential fire hazards at the project in St. Louis County in a report Friday to County Prosecuting Attorney Edward W. Garnholz.

The Clayton fire chief was one of two municipal fire chiefs who accompanied the county grand jury on its recent inspection tour of the area.

The tour resulted in a recommendation by the jury that the project be torn down as "hazardous to life and health" because of improperly installed propane gas tanks and other hazards.

Fire Chief Edward G. Redore of suburban LaDue, who also made the tour, was critical of potential hazards in his report to Garnholz.

The Laclede Gas Co. offered to supply natural gas to the project at a cost of $179,000 in a letter to County Supervisor Luman F. Matthews, saying this would eliminate the need for the present propane tanks.

Nancy Cook New Honorary Board Member at SMU

One of the highest honors that can be bestowed on a girl student at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., was given this week to Nancy Ruth Cook, daughter of Mrs. Thelma W. Cook, 1115 West Sixth.

In elaborate ceremonies at the University last Tuesday Miss Cook was named to membership in SMU's chapter of Mortar Board, a national women's honorary organization.

She was one of 14 girls in the university's student body of 4,700 to be so honored.

The purpose of Mortar Board is to cultivate college loyalty and service to humanity and to produce, through its efforts, a finer college woman.

Students elected to membership are chosen on the basis of scholarship, character, and campus achievement.

Miss Cook, a junior journalism student at the Dallas school and a graduate of Sedalia's Smith-Cotton High School, is an honor student at SMU and has received several awards for her outstanding college work.

She has held numerous student offices and is presently on the editorial staff of the university's newspaper, "The SMU Campus", and is also a staff member of the school's radio station, KSMU.

Fire Destroys Lumber Yard, 7 Homes, Bus

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Fire Friday destroyed a lumber yard, seven frame homes and a school bus used as a residence.

Maurice Malin, manager of the Vandivort Lumber Co., estimated the loss to that firm at $60,000.

The fire started in one of the frame homes across the alley from the lumber yard. Firemen from Caruthersville and Hayti fought the blaze more than an hour and a half.

Caruthersville Fire Chief Clem Hill was overcome by exhaustion while fighting the blaze.

Regular April Meeting

The Lincoln 4-H Club met at the high school April 11 for its regular meeting.

Lois Eken was in charge of the business session. Plans were made for the annual 4-H tour and the Benton County 4-H Sunday was discussed.

Juanita Roberts and Jerry Rank were elected as delegates from the local group in the county chorus which will be a feature of the 4-H Sunday program.

Roll call was answered by a favorite song. During the social hour, volley ball was enjoyed.

Representative Fined Two Months Ago Files For State Senator

ST. LOUIS (AP)—State Rep. John W. Green of St. Louis, fined $1,000 two months ago on his conviction of obtaining money under false pretenses, has filed for the Democratic nomination for 7th District state senator.

Green, elected to a fourth term in the Legislature while under indictment in the same case, filed for the nomination Friday. He was convicted by a jury of obtaining money under false pretenses by claiming he could obtain a parole for a convict.

Sen. Edward J. Hogan Jr. now holds the 7th District seat. Primary elections will be held Aug. 7.

Dismisses Case Of Embezzlement Against Mayor

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Circuit Judge Fred E. Mueller has dismissed an embezzlement indictment against Leo J. Hayes, mayor of suburban Wellston, on the grounds Hayes' constitutional rights had been violated.

County Prosecuting Attorney Edward W. Garnholz Friday followed the judge's action by dropping the two remaining embezzlement indictments against Hayes.

The three indictments charged Hayes with embezzling $5,851 in connection with police benefit dances. They were returned last Nov. 17.

The indictment ruled upon by Judge Mueller charged Hayes with embezzlling $2,500 in 1954.

The judge upheld a defense motion which contended Hayes had testified before the grand jury Oct. 25, under subpoena, without being advised that he was under investigation and without waiving any of his privileges or immunities.

"The court is technically correct," Garnholz said, "and I am morally bound to nolle prosse the other two pending cases because the same law applies to them."

Hayes denied embezzling any money.

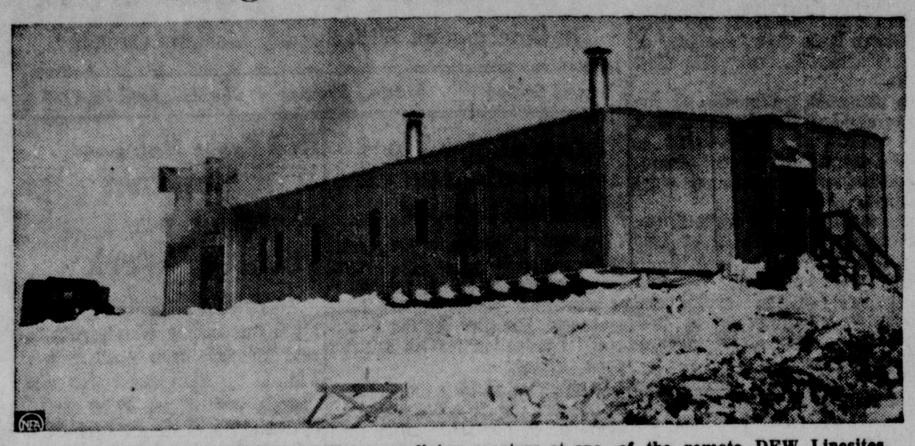
Are You Sick of the City? There's Cash For Earning on the Famous DEW Line



HOME ON THE RADAR RANGE: These are living quarters at one of the remote DEW Linesites.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

DEW LINE SITE Above the Arctic Circle — (NEA) — Sick of the city? Bored with the suburbs? Need a wad of cash for a down payment on a house?

If so your answer could be a job with the Federal Electric Co., of Clifton, N. J., a subsidiary of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

The firm is seeking thousands of men to operate the string of Distant Early Warning radar stations being built on a 3,000-mile line across the Arctic to warn of Russian bomber attack. It was low bidder on a contract to do this job.

It's the first time in U. S. history that civilians will take over such a vital military function. Only a handful of Canadian and U.S. officers will be at DEW line points.

It's also the first time that an opportunity to get in on the ground floor of the opening of a great new promising frontier is being so well financed.

Pay will average in the neighborhood of at least $800 per month. You'll have to agree to stay 18 months. If you stay longer you'll get automatic raises and bonuses. Americans and Canadians are eligible.

The construction workers now up here have saved about $500 per month after taxes and expenses. There's nothing to spend money on.

Federal Electric is seeking cooks, clerks, electronic workers, maintenance men and many other categories of workers. They're planning to train workers and send them up free.

There will be an unlimited demand for workers because turnover will probably be high.

Probably just as important as the job is the crack at private opportunities on the burgeoning new frontier.

Ex-DEW line workers have begun to make money on everything from uranium prospecting to selling records and hi-fi equipment.

If this job chance intrigues you but you're skittish about the weather and living conditions, you're in for a surprise. One of the major discoveries of the DEW line job has been the livability of the Arctic.

You quickly get used to the sub-zero temperatures. Workers walk around with billed caps with nothing over their ears except when the wind is strong. They wear clothing not much heavier than you'd see at any U.S. or Canadian ski lodge.

The boxlike permanent buildings of DEW line camps are probably home. If you chill easily you can stay indoors for the full 18-month tour.

Loneliness and lack of city-type recreation are drawbacks. But there's plenty of radio and recorded music to listen to. Ping-pong has become the national pastime of the Arctic. And reading and hobbies are diversions.

It's astonishing how many construction workers took up painting during their spare time this winter. The job probably launched an Arcticart renaissance.

During the year of DEW line construction, civilization ras pushed northward to satisfy the demands of workers. Eskimo village stores have begun stocking greater varieties of goods. New stores have opened in tiny communities. Bush pilots have begun making almost scheduled passenger runs.

It's inevitable that during the next five or ten years of DEW line operation the Arctic will completely lose its remote, mysterious character.

Residents Will Need To Learn Meaning Of Word 'Garbage'

LUDLOW, Ky. (AP)—City Council plans to "get tough" with residents who don't know the meaning of "garbage."

It adopted that attitude last night after it learned the town's garbage truck wasn't tough enough to handle what has been found in garbage cans. The trucks grinding equipment broke down because residents were loading their cans with such things as cement blocks and iron wheels.

Wrong Term

LUMBERTON, N.C. (AP)—Superior Court Judge Raymond B. Mallard of Tabor City showed up here as scheduled to preside over a term of court — and ran into an order committing him to prison for two years for manufacturing whisky illegally.

Mrs. Dixie Adams, assistant clerk of court, was typing a commitment order for another man when the telephone rang. The caller asked who was conducting court. And Mrs. Adams typed in Judge Mallard's name as she replied.

She signed the order, too. But the judge beat the rap.

Emergency Treatment

HONEA PATH, S.C. (AP)—If Highway Patrolman C. C. Swafford, newly assigned to Honea Path, had recognized the driver he probably wouldn't have sped after a car that whizzed by City Hall.

About four miles out of town Swafford's car ran off a curve and Police Chief F. A. Walker, riding with him, suffered a head injury.

A little later, here came the car they had chased, headed back into town. The driver was Dr. O. E. DeVore, who had been answering an emergency call to a rural home. Dr. DeVore already had reported the automobile accident and he took Chief Walker to his office for treatment. No charges.

Dallas Police Wonder If the Underworld Has Turned Sissy

DALLAS (AP) — Police are wondering if the underworld is turning sissy.

A 32-year-old ex-convict who has served time for armed robbery landed in jail for theft because officers caught him picking roses off the fence at the police garage.

And a 27-year-old hoodlum, veteran of half a dozen underworld knife and gun battles, was booked for malicious mischief after police caught him with an air rifle and a box of pellets hidden in his truck.

25 Cent Lawsuit Is Settled Out of Court

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—It will take more than 25 cents to get General Telephone Co. of Kentucky to tangle with a woman in court.

Mrs. Irene Hanson was determined to recover the quarter she said she deposited in a pay phone last December without receiving service. She shelled out $3.40 in costs to file suit, saying the company had refused to make a refund. But a company attorney dropped by the court with $3.65—$3.40 for the court and 25 cents for Mrs. Hanson.

Mosquito Atoms

NEWARK, Del. (AP)—A swarm of radioactive mosquitoes is invading Delaware, but the sting will be no better or worse than that of an ordinary mosquito.

As part of a University of Delaware research project, mosquito larvae are being tagged with radioactive isotopes and released in remote marshes.

Researchers will prowl the marshes with Geiger counters to see how far the pests travel from home. Armed with this migratory information, they hope to arrive at better means of mosquito control.

Vacuumed Fish

ANTIOCH, Calif. (AP) — A giant vacuum cleaner is keeping the fish, fishermen and the power company happy along the San Joaquin River.

A pipeline sucks 400 million gallons of water daily from the river to cool the generators of the power plant. Along with the water come a horde of unwanted fish eggs and fish sucked in from a striped bass spawning bed. Biologists estimate the total at 19 million a year.

The utility company isn't in the fish business. So it built a huge concrete room with mechanical dip nets, hydraulic fish lifts, traveling screens, bladeless impellerfish pumps, and a massive vacuum cleaner to send the fish and eggs shooting back into the river through another pipeline.

The company says 90 per cent survive the free ride.

DENVER (AP)—For 28 years Isadore Berman has kept a pledge to himself not to become dulled by long hospitalization.

At 63, Berman is still a patient at the American Medical Center which he entered when he was 35. He is still under care for tuberculosis.

As librarian at the hospital since his admission, Berman not only has kept track of 17,000 volumes but has learned to play the piano and violin, taught himself to read Spanish, Greek and Italian, among other things.

"These modern books are frankly too spicy and sexy for me," Berman observed. "I've been spending much of my time lately in philosophy, psychology and sociology. I hope I can stay here with the books for a long time."

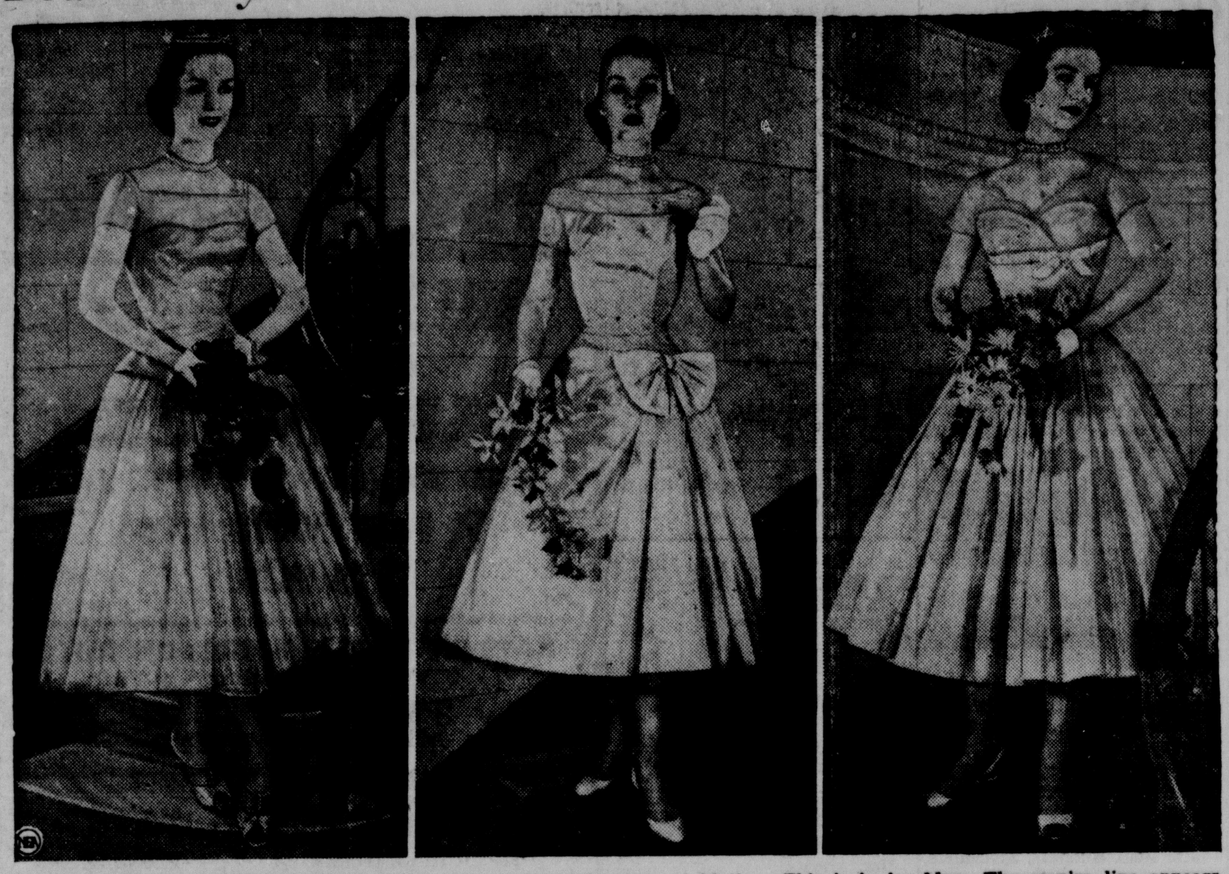
Double-Duty Dresses Are Best Choice for Bridesmaids



Favorite dress of the 1956 bridesmaid is one with cover-up, designed to go partying on many occasions when the wedding ceremony is over. Full-skirted dress with long torso line (left) is in apricot color, has yoke and small sleeves of tulle. Tulle treatment is used again at neckline of dress (center) with flat bow at hipline. This is in ice blue. The empire line appears (right) in lemon yellow dress with net top and skirt width achieved through soft, unpressed pleats. All three designs are by Murray Hamburger in chromspun taffeta. Best length for a bridesmaid's dress this year is the ballerina.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Those clouds of color provided at every wedding by the bridesmaid's dresses, tend toward the deepened pastels this year.

The 1956 bridesmaid will look picture-pretty in her ballerina-length dress. But she's practical too. Her dress is chosen with price well in mind and with the condition that it can serve in her wardrobe later on.

Unlike this year's bride, who is formal and elegant, the bridesmaid wants to know that she's buying a double-duty dress, not just a useless dress to fold away in tissue paper when the wedding is over. Therefore, she wants neckline cover-up and a shorter length than that chosen by the bride.

She wants soft color, too, and favors the minty greens, pinks, blues, yellows and aquas. She likes bell-shaped dresses, embroidered organdies, taffetas and nylon chiffon.

Stoles and detachable fichus have been replaced by little sleeves, yokes of tulle, lace and net and the deep V neckline with complete shoulder coverage.

In New York, stores say that the bridesmaid is willing to pay about $40 for her dress.

Sometimes You Can't Give Fish Away

DENVER (AP) — Generous sportsmen in Colorado are learning it's a complicated process just to hand out a fish to a friend.

A "certificate of donation" must accompany the gift.

State game and fish regulations say: "No game or fish taken on a regular hunting or fishing license shall be disposed of to another except by actual donation and having attached thereto a certificate of donation (in the form of a letter or other written statement) showing in whose name the license was issued, the type and kind, the number and year, the date the game or fish were legally taken, the date of donation and the signature of donor . . . The heart-shaped diamond is the newest diamond cut for this year's bride. It is a true heart-shape. Diamonds called heart-shape in the past were actually pear or triangular-shaped. It takes both a plump diamond and expert cutting to achieve the heart-shape. But the result combines sentiment with quality.

The Heart Shape is Newest Diamond Cut of This Season

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—When you go with your fiance to pick out your diamond ring, you may find the talk about "cuts" confusing.

Actually, the various "cuts" have been developed to lend additional beauty to diamonds and the one you pick is largely a matter of your own taste. No one cut of diamond is more expensive than another.

Newest of the modern cuts is appropriately heart-shaped. The diamond is notched at the top and cut to a point in true eternal heart shape. It's worn with a plain wedding band.

The brilliant, or round, cut has long been a popular one. This round cut has 58 facets and is lovely in diamonds of all sizes, from the smallest to the largest.

A variation on the brilliant is the marquise cut, also with 58 facets. The outline of this stone is boat-shaped and the shape tends to make the fingers seem slimmer.

Another cut with 58 facets is the pear-shape, worn with point toward the tip of the finger. The largest diamond in the world, weighing 530 carats and now in the British scepter, is pear-shaped.

Diamonds also are cut with straight sides and angles. The emerald-cut, for instance, is shot with "rainbows and ribbons" since it has its facets polished diagonally across the corners. A square-cut has sharp corners. The emerald-cut may be square or oblong in outline.

Baguettes are the straight and slender gems used on each side of the center stone of an engagement ring. They're intended to enhance the larger stone and set it off, pointing up and adding to its brilliance.

Cities Go Personal

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Today's cities are not as impersonal, anonymous and cynical as they're supposed to be, says a Wittenberg College sociologist, Dr. Karl H. Hertz. In a Springfield survey, he found the average person knew at least 75 per cent of the other people in his block. A kind of "impersonal neighboring" is emerging in today's city, Hertz says. "It lacks the close personal relationships we associate with rural communities, but it's there."

"Impersonal neighboring" means exchanging favors and possessions without taking an active interest in the other fellow's personal or social life, he explains.

Your heart, while beating nearly 100,000 times a day, or more than 2,000,000,000 beats in a lifetime, rests nearly 4 years of the lifetime.

Lamine 4-H Club Has Regular April Session

The Lamine 4-H Club meeting was held Friday night, April 13, at the Community Center. The president led in the 4-H pledge and roll call was answered by naming a wild flower. Plans for Rural Life Sunday were completed and the dairy festival was discussed.

Lucille Rugen gave an interesting demonstration on making a belt loop. After several songs were sung and games were played, refreshments were served to 11 members, one leader and seven visitors.

It was decided to serve donuts and lemonade at the next meeting.

Expensive Vote Loss

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Mayor Ward Thomas of the little King County town of Algona concedes that he didn't know when he was well off.

He demanded a recount after losing the election to Durrell McAbee by two votes. When the recount was completed he trailed by three votes. He also was out $10 in costs.

Children Warned

DENVER (AP)—The Safety Education Unit of the Denver Police Department has distributed more than 70,000 illustrated pamphlets to elementary school children warning them and their parents of the techniques of sex molesters.

Photographs are used to caution the children against accepting rides from strangers, taking candy, money or treats from strangers, going with strangers who ask directions or allowing strangers to talk with them.

Caps, Coronets Show Above New Length Bridal Veils

These lace bridal veils from the new collection of designer William J. show the current trend to greater individuality. Young bride (left) wears a hood of chantilly lace designed expressly for the ballerina length bridal gown. Lace is attached to a white satin bow and snaps under the chin with a second bow. "Bird cage" of imported white lace (center) fits over the head and ties around the neck with white satin ribbons. Halo of lace (right) is worn back on the head to frame the face, has an attached floor-length cape of lace with scalloped edges. This is ideal bridal veiling for the tall girl who wears an elegant gown.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK —(NEA)— For the bride who doesn't own an heirloom veil and who will buy her wedding headdress, there's a wide choice this year.

The bridal headdress may be a little cap of flowers, a miniature coronet or a tiny hat. Any one of the three will have a misty pouf of veiling attached, ending at about elbow length. These are designed to set off the bride's tiny waist and sweeping, romantic skirt.

Most of these are worn level but some of the tiny hats are worn forward. These were designed for the French roll hairdo but would look equally well on any small, neatly-shaped head.

There are bridal veilings of individuality and formality this year. Those brides who want something unusual will choose the veiling that looks like a little cap and ties under the chin. There are many variations of this design.

Brides who want really formal veiling can have it floor-length, designed to trail from a lace halo that frames the face prettily. This is the best bet for the very tall, slim girl who moves down the aisle with majestic grace.

Bridal veiling can be had at a modest price but a check of New York stores shows that this year's young bride is willing to pay anywhere from $50 on up for her veiling. And undoubtedly, many of these veilings will be saved and become, in time, family heirlooms.

Prodigious Bite Revealed By Fossil Mammoth Teeth

REAL CHEWING — J. E. Smith, construction engineer looks over the fossil mammoth teeth which were found in a Denver construction excavation.

DENVER (AP) — Two enormous fossil teeth, the molars of a Columbian Mammoth, were found in gravel dug from 35 feet below street level in an excavation here. The two weighed 30 pounds. The larger was 10 inches long. Dr. G. Edward Lewis, head paleontologist of the U. S. Geological Survey, says the mammoth lived some 20,000 years ago and chewed tons of greenstuff daily. The Columbian Mammoth at maturity stood 13 feet high at the shoulder. The modern elephant stands about 9 feet high.

Honesty Pays Off

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Carl Hatch usually is pretty tough with tardy attorneys.

But when attorney Edward Apodaca said he had no excuse for failing to show up when his client's case was called, Hatch said the explanation was "sufficiently rare" and there would be no reprimand.

Then Apodaca said his client, Cipriano Jose Sandoval, 25, likewise had no excuse for his offense. Sandoval had pleaded guilty to making false claims for railroad insurance act benefits.

Taking note of Sandoval's "honesty" and the fact the money was repaid, Judge Hatch gave him a one-year suspended sentence.

Capua Altered Record Books

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Wyoming's 5 foot 9 basketball wizard, Joe Capua, broke nearly every Skyline Conference and Wyoming University record in the books.

His 51 points against Montana set a conference record. His 380 points in conference play topped the 14-game total amassed by Utah's Art Bunte.

Capua's season record of 637 points in 26 games smashed the former Wyoming record of 551 set by Milo Komenich in 1943. His 24.5 point per game average also bettered Komenich's old mark of 16.7.

Incidentally, Komenich discovered Capua in Gary, Ind., and talked him into going to Wyoming.

Bar for Teacher

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Theodore Colton has a choice between two professions: Teaching school or tending bar. Colton has been teaching by day and bartending by night. But a member of the Board of Education protested Colton's part-time occupation, and the teacher's contract for next fall requires him to give up bartending.

Colton hasn't decided which job he'll take.

Leather Helps To Emphasize New Fashions

Now that leather has become as easy to wash as cotton, the girl with a yen for the smooth elegance of leather gloves can wear them the year round and dunk them in the wash basin at night along with her stockings.

There's news in all kinds of leather accessories this season, not only in their new easy washability but also in color and texture. You may have leather gloves, shoes and handbags in practically any color of the rainbow nowadays, from the pale beiges and delicate pastel tints through the whole range of vivid reds, blues and greens.

Handbags are big and handsome, come in many leather textures and all colors. Kid gloves often are delicately embroidered and look like the most delicate French imports, yet can be tossed in the washing machine and come up smiling.

Try some of the washable leather accessories with your summer outfits and see the air of distinction they impart.

DUNKABLE GLOVES — These luscious vanilla beige kid gloves, trimmed in contrasting embroidery, are made of new launder-leather.

FASHION IN THE BAG—Bags are bigger than ever this year, like this beauty in crushed grain calf, French bread color.

Flight Psychology Studied

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Research to search out the "bugs" in human reactions under the stress and strain of flying is going on at Antioch College under U.S. Air Force auspices.

The need for the project came with modern, high-speed airplanes, says Dr. Jerome Cohen, professor of psychology.

With aircraft getting slimmer, the result is less space for the pilot and instruments. And at jet speeds, a pilot must be able to tell at a swift glance what's going on. So one goal is fewer instruments.

In one of the experiments a pilot's eye movements are photographed under flight conditions, to determine if some instruments can't be combined. Student volunteers may find themselves subjected to 110 decibels of sound in a 4x7-foot room, or involved in an experiment on control panel knobs.

Talmadge Is Favored 3 to 1 To Top Sen. Walter George

By JOE DABNEY
NEA Special Correspondent

ATLANTA — (NEA) — Georgia oddsmakers are giving three to one that veteran Sen. Walter George—at 77—will lose his seat in Congress this fall to Herman Talmadge.

They say young former governor Talmadge, who's been barnstorming the state for a year, will come out on top at the end of a gruelling summer battle.

Sen. George, meanwhile, has set up headquarters in Atlanta and has launched a vigorous defense of his post and policies.

He says he'll run on his record, marked by his chairmanship of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee and his position as one of the most influential Democrats in Washington.

Talmadge is expected to make his formal announcement within two months. Observers say when he does, it'll mark the opening of one of the most slam-bang political battles ever fought in Georgia.

Talmadge, 43, already has fired the first verbal salvo. On a television program here recently he lashed out at George by name for the first time and outlined several "areas of disagreement."

Talmadge demanded "immediate" tax reductions and a cut in foreign spending. He asked for a halt to what he called "America's effort to buy friendship abroad."

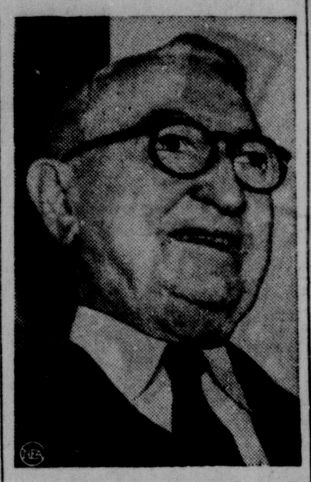
He said he himself favors high farm price supports and charged George "favored the Benson (flexible) plan."

Although Talmadge didn't emphasize it on his review of issues, he's expected to hammer hard on the theme of school segregation. And one supporter says he'll win the race on that issue alone.

An avowed critic of the Supreme Court desegregation decision, he's rumored to be set to exploit the issue to the limit — especially in the smaller, predominantly rural counties which possess powerful voting strength because of Georgia's county unit system. (The system, similar to the national electoral college, gives counties from two to six unit votes each.)

George, meanwhile, has been busy himself on the issue of segregation. It was in his Washington office that a "manifesto" was mapped out recently protesting the Supreme Court's school integration ruling. Signed by virtually every Southern congressman, the document said the Southern bloc would do all in its legal power to reverse the court decision.

George also has recently indicated his opposition to long-range foreign aid as requested by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.



SEN. WALTER GEORGE: He'll run on his long-term record.

HERMAN TALMADGE: He'll run the limit on segregation.

VD—Wanted and Unwanted

ROCKY MOUNT, N.C. (AP)—To a lot of folks, the letters "VD" have come to mean venereal disease.

Several motorists put up howls when they purchased 1956 automobile license plates bearing the "VD" prefix in front of the numerals. The State Motor Vehicles Department offered to exchange them for plates bearing other letters. All of the VD plates—999—had been assigned to the Rocky Mount area.

The VD plates suddenly became popular. Folks wrote in and asked to be issued the plates that had been turned in by motorists. No soap, said the department. Turned-in plates can't be re-issued.

STERLING, Colo. (AP)—Postmaster Harley Beery reports city mailmen were bitten 11 times in 1955 by dogs.

Cutting Problem

COALGATE, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Corilla Sorrells, 51, is facing a problem she hadn't encountered for 45 years.

A new tooth started growing, getting in the way of her "store bought teeth." She finally decided to have the "impudent young sprout" pulled since her dentures were so comfortable.

Cleanup Job

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The woman said, the wash job made her car look brand new. Then police advised her that the car she was driving not only looked brand new, it was. She brought it back and sheepishly drove off in an almost new, and very clean, car that was hers.

Competitive Motherhood

WETUMKA, Okla. (AP) — Nelson Roberts has a young hen with a strong motherhood instinct although she never had any chicks of her own.

The Roberts cat made the mistake of picking the hen's nest to bear her litter of five kittens and then the hen took over. She hovered over the kittens like a mother hen and chased the mother cat when she came close.

Atoms Help Seeds

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—Atomic energy is being used to produce better seeds. University of Tennessee experts at Oak Ridge hope to produce disease-resistant seeds by exposing them to gamma rays from radioactive cobalt.

Since most radiation effects are harmful to seeds, the project is expected to take several years to be successful.

Nothing Funny About Auto Accidents. . .

Young people react quickly and learn quickly.

With these two factors in their favor, their automobile driving record theoretically should be better than their elders'.

But figures in the recently released safety booklet "Fatal Fallacies," an annual publication of the Safety Service of the Travelers Insurance companies of Hartford, reveal that more than 27% of all drivers involved in fatal accidents last year were under twenty-five years of age, a greater number than ever before, and a 3% increase over the previous year.

This leads one to conclude that fast reflexes are not enough to avert a serious accident involving a recklessly driven car traveling at excessive speed.

Since speed and recklessness are the principal faults in accidents, emphasis should be placed on these faults by those who teach youth to drive. Granted that youth has the capacity for rapid learning then this should be utilized in the training program, particularly in high schools.

In comparison with the age group under twenty-five, those over that age made a significant improvement in their safety record for 1955. This was evident particularly in the incidence of fatal accidents.

1955 was a bloody year on the nation's highways. There was a near record total of 37,800 deaths. A few of the grim figures revealed in "Fatal Fallacies," indicate that excessive speed was the most dangerous driving mistake again, killing 12,700. The 1954 total was 12,380. The injury total resulting from excessive speed was 702,560, compared with 659,000 in 1954.

The pedestrian record was the only bright spot in the 1955 accident picture. It reflected improvement for the fifth consecutive year. Pedestrian casualties were reduced to 230,400, compared with 235,060 in 1954.

Weekend crashes accounted for 15,730 killed and 766,090 injured. The 1954 weekend record was 13,980 killed and 678,000 injured.

Crossing between intersections "jay walking," and stepping into the street behind parked cars are the chief causes of pedestrian deaths and injuries. This is a common practice on Sedalia streets, particularly in the downtown business district.

Grim figures in "Fatal Fallacies," reveal the astounding fact that one out of every 75 persons in the United States became a traffic casualty in 1955. That's a prime reason for national and local emphasis on everyone becoming more safety conscious.

And it might be well to remember to exercise more driving caution between the hours of 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. when during 1955 26.4 per cent of fatalities occurred, and between 1 a.m. and 6 a.m. when 18.2 per cent were killed. These were the casualty hours, too, for those injured, 28.2 per cent and 9.2 per cent respectively.

How are Americans going to reduce this record total of killed and injured? What is desperately required is the immediate, unceasing cooperation of every one of us in possession of a driver's permit, based on an aroused awareness of highway peril.

"You Have My Assurance I Won't Run Away Either"

Drew Pearson Says—

Dewey Still Ike's Chief Cabinet-Maker

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — One interesting fact about the Dewey crowd is that they never give up. If they don't succeed the first time, they try, try again.

Witness the backstage maneuvering of the ex-governor of New York and his close friend, Elliott V. Bell, to put the latter in the next Eisenhower cabinet — if there is one.

Bell, now editor and publisher of Business Week, had one of the greatest disappointments of his life — second only to Dewey's — when Dewey found that he wasn't elected President in 1948. Bell had been the chief architect of the "Don't rock the boat, play it safe, we are in, don't attack Truman" campaign strategy; and he has never forgiven himself for that error.

Burning in his breast has been the desire for vindication. He has seen other Dewey friends running the Ike Administration — Brownell, Dulles, Mitchell, McKay, Nixon, all owing their jobs to Dewey — and Bell has wanted to be there, too.

However, Eisenhower hasn't particularly cottoned to the economic genius who steered New York finances when Dewey was governor. So a quiet campaign has been started to maneuver Bell into a spot in the next Eisenhower cabinet —as Secretary of the Treasury.

This was behind an inconspicuous press handout issued by the State Department announcing that "four prominent citizens have accepted the invitation of Secretary Dulles to serve as adviser" at the multi-lateral tariff conference in Geneva.

Heading the list, followed by quite a biographical buildup, was the name of Elliott V. Bell.

How Cabinet Is Picked

This announcement was by no means spontaneous. Quite a bit of maneuvering was behind it, including a meeting between Dewey, Bell, and Gabriel Hauge, the economic adviser to the White House. Hauge was told to line up an overseas assignment for Bell — something hard and without glamour so that a pitch could be made to Ike later that Bell had done his share and deserved a reward.

Hauge was told to help. He got busy. He used to work for Bell.

John Foster Dulles was also told to line up a foreign assignment for Bell. Result: adviser on multilateral tariff problems in Geneva.

Meanwhile, to prepare for this cram course to join the next Eisenhower cabinet, Bell brought an "associate publisher" in to handle Business Week — Bayar E. Sawyer. A special title was even created for him.

Thus, the cabinet buildup for Elliott V. Bell was duly launched.

Dewey and Bell figure various cabinet changes will take place in Ike's second term. And Bell has told friends that the cabinet in the second Eisenhower Administration will be even more powerful, since Ike will delegate more than ever.

Note — Bell's magazine has been strongly pro-Eisenhower. He even relieved Murray Rossant, the one lone Democrat who had replaced Gabriel Hauge. Today the editorial page is supervised by Dewey's old labor aide, Mel Pitzele, the man who brought James Mitchell, now Secretary of Labor, to Dewey's attention. Pitzele, now promoted to "senior editor," is in a position to produce editorially for Ike and for the man who wants to be Ike's next Secretary of the Treasury.

Jets for Washington

The armed forces are running into increasing trouble with the increasing population of the U. S., in locating air bases. Latest problem is that on locating a modern jet navy airfield which threatens to blast suburban Washingtonians out of their beds at night.

Construction of the field has been okayed by the House Armed Services Committee. But though the navy won't talk, the base is slated for Davidsonville, midway between Washington and Annapolis, which has brought a howl of anguish from the home owners in that area.

The Navy plans to take over 5,000 acres of land around Davidsonville, which residents claim would blight at least 100 square miles of valuable residential, farming, and seashore areas in Anne Arundel and Prince Georges counties.

The Navy frankly admits that the area is becoming densely populated.

"The countryside in the general vicinity of the naval academy is undergoing rapid development," conceded Admiral Walter F. Boone, former commandant of the academy.

This growing concentration of population did not worry Admiral Boone, however. On the contrary, he viewed it as just an added reason "for the procurement of the land for an airfield at the earliest possible date."

By contrast, a wholly different position has been taken by the Navy's top-ranking air admiral, Vice Admiral T. S. Combs, who wants jet bases kept away from densely populated cities.

Testified Admiral Combs before the House Armed Services Committee:

"The airplanes that we have coming along right now, the very fast ones, are terrifically noisy. They have afterburners on them and those afterburners at low altitudes really are unbearable."

As a result, Admiral Combs asked for funds to move Navy jets away from San Francisco—though his colleague, Admiral Boone, wants to move them closer to Washington.

The Navy claims that the field at Davidsonville is needed to familiarize midshipmen at Annapolis with aircraft. However, no battleships or carriers are needed at Annapolis to "familiarize" midshipmen with ships. When asked by this column about this contradiction, the Navy replied: "No comment." The same answer was given when this column asked if the Davidsonville site had CAA approval, in view of possible threats to commercial traffic.

Guest Editorial—

GALLATIN NORTH MISSOURIAN: Our Customers. Joe Blow kills a big snake and stops in to the newspaper office to tell us about it. The next issue carries Joe's achievement as a big game hunter. Jim Doaks, a week later, kills an even bigger snake, takes it home through the alley and tells only one or two people about it. Then the paper comes out and Jim is hurt because he is not mentioned.

Maybe it isn't a hunting trip. Maybe it's a trip to the city to see relatives, or little Mary has a poem published. Newspapers try to do a lot of things — and do them — but one thing they can't do is to read minds. Anyone who has done something noteworthy is to be commended for telling us about it. We appreciate it and so do our readers. But we have lots to do and cannot possibly interview everyone each week to see that some modest person who deserved to get in the papers isn't left out.

A newspaper's clientele seems to be made up of three different kinds of people: (1) Those who inform the paper when they engage in something newsworthy. (2) Those who don't inform us and are then disappointed when they are not mentioned. (3) Those who do something the community is talking about, but who try hard to keep it out of the paper.

Most of the letters and postcards had a pathetic ring.

Like this one, for instance: "Regarding your article about what a man can call exclusively his in his own home, you hit the nail right on the head.

"I am allowed one whole closet in my home; so I am better off than many of my fellow husbands.

"Why is it that women don't like leather furniture? Some day, maybe, I can have a leather chair and a desk of my own."

You could have that desk and chair right now. And other husbands, too, could have the articles of furniture and the space they need for living if they would only stand up to their wives and say:

"Look, I am going to pick out my own easy chair. If you want to go along to choose a color that will fit in with the color scheme, all right.

"But I'm going to get the kind of chair I want. And it doesn't make any difference to me whether or not the neighbors would like it, an interior decorator would approve of it, or whether or not it looks like something in a decorating journal.

"I want it to SIT in."

The average woman today does a fine job of making her home attractive. She studies and learns and imitates and asks advice. And she usually comes up with pleasing furniture arrangements and choices of colors.

But while she is busy creating a picture, she sometimes forgets that a home isn't designed just to show or to please her eye only.

A home is to live in. And who has a better right to have a say-so in what makes it livable than Dad, who is paying off the mortgage?

So don't be timid, men. Your comfort is every bit as important as your wife's idea of HER dream house.

'The Truth About Cancer' Available at Library Here

"The Truth About Cancer" by Charles S. Cameron, medical and scientific director of the American Cancer Society, is one of the most important books available on cancer.

It is written for the layman and goes into the known facts on cancer. It is heartening to read that it would be possible to save, right now, twice as many lives as are being saved with no new facts or medical knowledge on cancer. All that needs to be done is to detect cancer early and then get the best medical attention available. But each person must accept his own responsibility for the early detection and protection against death by cancer. Dr. Cameron points out that all cancer is not equally curable and that each person should have a knowledge of the symptoms and sites of cancer.

"The Truth About Cancer" is a well organized book with an overview of causes and misconceptions of cancer, diagnosing and treating cancer, research and cancer quacks forming the first section. Part two gives the layman a closer look at cancer of the skin, lip and mouth, larynx, esophagus, stomach, and all other places cancer may be located. He even includes a special chapter on cancer in children. Diagrams of normal and diseased areas form an important part of this education in awareness.

Dr. Cameron deals with quacks and with the doctor's responsibility in prolonging life and easing pain, the progress and limitations of current research findings.

Boonslick Regional Library recommends "The Truth About Cancer" by Dr. Charles S. Cameron as important reading. Other books on cancer, heart disease, diet and health problems are available in your library.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

An advance in the price of gasoline was made at several service stations in Sedalia, regular being hiked from 12.1 cents a gallon to 14.1 cents and ethyl gasoline was raised to 17.1 cents.

1931

J. B. Hancock, a local contractor, returned from a visit to Camdenton, new county seat of Camden County, and stated that town was rapidly building up. It took the place of the old county seat at Linn Creek, inundated by the Lake of the Ozarks.

1931

H. W. Meuschke, former Sedalia dry goods merchant, was here from Carthage visiting relatives and friends. He was a former member of the city council.

1931

Allan Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, 1419 West Fourth, was assigned to the sales promotion department of the Aluminum Company of America at Pittsburgh, Pa.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Ed Green, a Pettis County stockman, returned from St. Louis where he marketed four carloads of cattle that sold at $8.45 per hundred pounds.

1916

Under sponsorship of E. J. Adamson, Ruth St. Denis, assisted by Ted Shawn and a capable company, presented a repertoire of classic and modern dances at the Sedalia Theatre before a full house.

1916

Five Sedalians, Mrs. Margaret Noel, Miss Emma Eckhoff, G. H. Henderson, L. A. Osborne and J. W. Strain were injured when a westbound street car of the City Light and Traction Co. was derailed just east of Lamine Avenue. The car flopped over on its side. Drs. W. J. Ferguson, K. R. Barnum, E. A. Albers and W. T. Walsh were called to attend them.

Whose Job

I'd like a better town, I say,
A better place to live,
And, yet, what part now do I play,
What to it do I give?
Do I go out and work and plan
To help when there's a need?
Do I do always what I can?
I do not — no, indeed.
I merely grumble and complain,
I wish 'twas thus and so,
The many things we would attain,
Our town must prosper — grow —
Now my opinions and my views
Are really very clever,
But not a one of them they'd use,
Consider them — no, never.
Now other towns are far ahead
Of my town—this I know,
Through things I've heard and things I've read,
They're modern and they grow,
While, so it seems, we just lag back,
We never do progress,
They say it's money that we lack,
This town is just a mess;
When issues come up out I go
To cast my little vote
For or against? Why I vote "No,"
They're trying to cut my throat,
Though it may cost me not a cent,
Or so they try to say,
I'm sure that they misrepresent,
I know I'll have to pay;
I never understand just what
They're voting on and so —
I don't know if I'm right or not,
I always just vote "No".
The town's not getting any place,
No new industries come,
Now I can tell of many a case
We could have gotten some,
Of course I haven't worked — not me —
Or given any tip,
It isn't my job, I can see
It's others I know slip,
Because I hear it on the street,
I'm certain it is true,
That's why I tell just all I meet
And why I'm telling you,
I really don't investigate
But I believe a rumor,
That's why we're in this awful state
And why I'm out of humor;
Sure, I'm a citizen — but — see —
I have no time to spare,
The job just isn't up to me,
You're not quite being fair,
The job is up to — well — someone
I don't know exactly who,
But someone ought to get things done
Perhaps it should be you.
But really now, they shouldn't wait,
Somebody ought to start,
I'm very sure, at any rate,
In building I've no part,
For I'm the type to criticize,
It does me good to squeal,
Because, you see, I'm really wise,
I'll let you push the wheel.

Today's Book Column—

Civilization's Impact On Vigorous Navajo Tribe

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Democrat-Capital
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Our difficulties in dealing with alien cultures that survive here suggest we were very wise to shy away from governing responsibilities overseas.

Perhaps "alien" is the wrong word to use in discussing Indian culture. They are the original Americans. Their treatment by the United States was intentionally shabby at first, and unintentionally shabby later.

A fascinating account of civilization's impact on a vigorous and resilient tribe is presented by Ruth Underhill in The Navajos (University of Oklahoma Press).

Ancestors of the Navajos probably came from Eastern Canada and Alaska. Their arrival in the Southwest may have forced the Pueblo farmers already there to concentrate in their cliff towns for protection.

The Navajos soon showed their adaptability. In jig time they picked up farming. One factor which may explain their willingness to experiment was that the Navajos were the Indian melting pot. Other Indians were absorbed by the tribe and in time every known way of life was represented among them.

For years the Navajos were the terror of the Southwest. And then, during the Civil War, Kit Carson led government forces that broke their power. Other Indian tribes, spoiling for the chance to even the score with their ancient enemies, cooperated heartily with Carson.

One such encounter was enough for the Navajos. They resolved never again to engage in war with the Whites, no matter the provocation. And they never did.

They were moved to a different area, but their crops failed. They did learn how to forge ration tickets, and, according to the author, this hunger inspired craft may have been the origin of Navajo silverwork.

In any event, the Navajos were unable to support themselves in their new location. It cost the government plenty to maintain them. "Better send the Indians to the Fifth Avenue Hotel to board," grumbled General Sherman.

So the government agreed they should return to their ancient homeland. The Navajos first, however, signed a treaty in which they foreswore banditry. Their reservation today includes a big chunk of northeastern Arizona, and a bit of Utah and New Mexico.

It was then, and is now, for the most part, dry Mesa land of low productive value. The tribe could not live on it without assistance from the government. Government policy today is based on the fact that the reservation, large as it is, simply cannot support 70,000 Navajos. (They are the largest Indian tribe in the United States.)

The author points out that the Navajos suffered because Washington policy fluctuated as did politics. This made for capricious administration of Indian affairs. On the reservation, for example, schooling would for a number of years be at the option of parents. Then it would be compulsory.

On the question of education, the author writes: ". . . picture a group of benefactors descending on the cheerful English peasant of the 12th century. Would it have occurred to any of them that activities . . . would be helped by reading and writing? The English peasant was left to find his way toward education through long centuries, while the England around him slowly changed . . . The Navajo was living in a world quite as primitive as rural England in the 12th century."

Today, according to the author, the Navajos are preparing to tackle business as the rest of the country knows it. It is for them another beginning. And she seems optimistic about their prospects.

US Still Has Economic Growth Pains

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—America still suffers from growing pains.

Gigantic as almost everything already is — you talk about billions today while still trying to comprehend millions — there are services and goods you want more of right now and others you're told you'll want more of soon.

The pains show up first in these inadequate services or goods, later in the search for money to meet the new or expected demands, and finally in the mounting paper work just to keep track of the bigger

American Telephone & Telegraph is so convinced that more people are going to want to talk more to others in more places that it is the first corporation to announce a two-billion-dollar outlay in one year for expansion.

But it's only one of many corporations and industries putting up huge sums either to keep up with their customers or to beat out their rivals for markets, here now or expected in the years ahead.

And the search for new sources of raw materials to feed America's widening maw will take still more stacks of money or credit.

Big and little companies are spending to develop new iron deposits or to find ways to produce iron more economically from older ore bodies. They are bringing in more aluminum and copper. They plan more steel mills to meet the greater demand and replace ancient furnaces. They talk of more newsprint. The oil industry is looking years ahead in its search for new fields. And industry looks for more water, either in conserving present sources or experimenting with taking the salt out of the seas.

The airlines are having their financial growing pains. They are looking for stacks of dough to ease their way into the jet age.

Alcohol Shot Into Brain Stops Palsy

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Shooting alcohol into the brain often stops the constant trembling and muscle rigidity of shaking palsy, a neurosurgeon reported today.

The alcohol kills that part of the brain sending out the volleys of nerve signals causing the tragic shaking. It is chemical surgery, in an area almost in the middle of the brain, known as the globus pallidus.

Brilliantly promising results with this and another new technique were described to the American College of Physicians by Dr. Irving S. Cooper, 33, of New York University College of Medicine.

A needle is thrust into the brain, guided by X rays to reach the pallidus area. Novocaine is injected first to see if it temporarily blocks the trembling. If it does, a dose of pure alcohol is injected to destroy this small part of the brain.

There are two of the pallidus areas. Destroying one stops the shaking and rigidity on the opposite side of the body. Some persons have had both areas treated to eliminate shaking altogether, Dr. Cooper said. It does not cause loss of muscle strength.

Results have been excellent in 75 per cent of 145 persons undergoing this chemical surgery in the last two years, he said. Less than 3 per cent died.

One man, bedridden for eight years, now is working after chemical treatment of both pallidus areas halted his uncontrolled shaking and paralyzing rigidity, the young neurosurgeon said.

Perhaps half a million American men and women have shaking palsy. The new methods can probably benefit at least 30 per cent of them, Dr. Cooper said.

The motto "In God We Trust" on American coins is credited to Rev. M. R. Watkinson, who suggested a similar wording to Salmon P. Chase, secretary of the treasury, in 1861.

For Smokers

Well-Known Deputy

SUMMERVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Mark Fowler, widely known in the moonshine trade hereabouts as a still sleuth, tells this one on himself:

Aware that most moonshiners recognize his automobile, he borrowed one to make a raid. He and his companion parked it in the woods, and set off on what turned out to be a fruitless search. When they returned they found someone had let the air out of the tires. Fowler had to walk three miles to borrow a pump.

Junior Spiz Hosts Seniors In Banquet at S-C Cafeteria

By Bob Mason and Nancy Oswald

The Junior Spiz members served as hosts for the Senior Spiz members at the annual banquet at Smith-Cotton cafeteria Friday evening, April 13, at 6:30. After a delightful meal of swiss steak and all the trimmings prepared by the cafeteria staff, Spiz members and dates danced to music of Ronnie Hoppes and his band. The cafeteria was beautifully decorated, all work being done by the Junior girls. Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Pinkney Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Glavin, and Miss Lois Gordon and her escort. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of a gift to Miss Gordon by the Spiz members. The presentation was made by Virginia Buso, Spiz president. Music was furnished by the Junior Girls Sextet under the direction of Mrs. Iuchs and the speaker of the evening was Chaplain Karl F. Schofer of Whiteman Air Force Base. Planning for the entire evening was under the direction of Miss Gordon.

Politics remained in the spotlight this week. Two boys won out in the primary election held last Tuesday. In a close election Don Land and Wayne Brown edged out Deanie Perkins for the general election honors. The general election will be held next Tuesday, with the winner receiving the Council presidency for the 1956-57 school year. Junior High politicians were also busy, as they elected John Waller and Nicky Nicols to clash head-on in the general election held Tuesday. Each of the candidates has posters and advertising materials all over Smith-Cotton urging candidates to vote for them.

The annual PTA open house was held at Smith-Cotton Thursday evening, with an unusually large crowd in attendance. The meeting, opened with the president for the 1956-57 school year, Mrs. L. E. Sheridan, presiding, and the program was presented by the Smith-Cotton High School band, chorus and trumpet trio. During the business meeting that followed, the new PTA officers for the coming year were installed, with Mrs. George Chamberlain being installed as president, Mrs. Nathalia Poynter, first vice-president, Mrs. Elmo Harlan, second vice-president; Mrs. Nathan Jones, secretary and Emerson Matthews of the Smith-Cotton faculty as treasurer. Following the adjournment of the business meeting, those attending went to the senior high library where exhibits of work done this year by Smith-Cotton students were on display. When the tour of the exhibits had been completed, refreshments were served in the school cafeteria during the social hour.

Senior High Kid Day is being planned by various senior committees well in advance of the event to be held May 11 — and present indications are that it will be a gala day for those graduating from Smith-Cotton this spring. Committees already appointed and working are the food committee, assembly committee, transportation committee, will and prophecy committee, and the "Kid Day" dance committee. All committees are under the direction of the class sponsors, Wiley Atkins and Mrs. Thelma Cook.

The Hazel Gray Chapter of the Future Teachers of America served as hostesses to the faculty this week, with a faculty tea in the library on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. This organization, made up of girls planning to enter the teaching profession, is sponsored by the school librarian, Mrs. Polly Ann Sillers.

College visitors to Smith-Cotton were represented this week by Lowell McFall of the Southwest Baptist College, Bolivar, who visited seniors interested in attending that school for the coming school year. Other visitors who talked with seniors about future plans included Sgt. Charles Erickson of the United States Marine Corps, and a representative from the Kansas City Conservatory of Music.

A Junior High School assembly was held Wednesday morning during the first hour. The program was given by the National Forensic League under the sponsorship of Miss Anna Sawford. The first portion of the program was given to the installing of new members into the society, led by the NFL President, Wayne Brown. Mr. Drake administered the pledge to the incoming members: Joyce Barber, Jerry Brown, Warren Cheatham, Floyd Evans, Jerry Fox, Marvin Lawson, Patty Luckey, William Mateja, Mary Ruth Mittlehauser, James Rice, Michael Wertz and James White. Degrees were awarded to Jerry Brown, Warren Cheatham, James Rice, Patricia Moore, Deanie Perkins, and Michael Wertz. Degrees of Excellence were given to Roy Gwinn, Harry Satterwhite, Janice White, Mary Hall, Marvin Lawson and Bonnie Lazenby. Degrees of Distinction were awarded to Tony Walch, Wayne Brown, Karen Crosslin, Lex Goldberg and Marcia Rissler. Special numbers on the program were given by Tony Walch, Bonnie Lazenby and Dick Shoemaker.

Added honors came to a Smith-Cotton student this week with the announcement that Mary Schofer, a Smith-Cotton Senior, has been delcared the winner in the Lenox Table Setting Contest. She has been given a beautiful piece of Lenox China for her first place entry, and she is now automatically entered in the national contest. Other winners announced were Sherry Stauffacher, second place; Virginia Leiter, third place; and Judy Howard, fourth place. All members of first-year home economics were entered, under the direction of Mrs. McKee, of the Smith-Cotton faculty.

Springfield Noted For Its Ozark Jubilee

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK, (AP)—A fellow who galloped in from the Ozarks the other day reported that the city of Springfield, Mo., used to be noted for butter, eggs and country music. Now, says he, it's noted for country music, tourists, eggs and butter.

As one of a passel of outriders with Red Foley he correctly identified this economic trend as the result of a television phenomenon called "Ozark Jubilee" which sets feet to beating all over America Saturday evenings by courtesy of the ABC-TV network.

Foley, in the unlikely event you don't know, has been called the dean of country music—though he looks too young and acts too modest to be the dean of anything. And country music, in case you don't know, used to be known as hillbilly music.

"But it's not just music from the hills," Foley says slowly. "It's music from all over the country, with a lot of influences in it. That's why it's called country music."

As one who has sold more than 25 million recordings of country music, Foley certainly should know what it is. Combine Foley, country music and some rousing square dancing and you have "Ozard Jubilee."

A son of Nashville, Tenn., Foley had the top job in "Grand Ol' Opry" there and helped make that city known as the nation's capital of country music. But in Springfield there lives a radio station owner and entrepreneur of musical talent named Ralph Foster who figured Springfield was the rightful capital of country music. So he sent his young vice president, E. E. (Si) Siman, over to Nashville to get Foley.

There are various stories on how Siman managed to lure Foley across the Mississippi after three months of persuasion. But lure him he did and now the citizens of Springfield in the Ozarks claim that Springfield is the capital of country music.

Wherever the capital is, Foster's country music enterprises reportedly bring in a couple of million dollars a year — and more than 50,000 tourists to Springfield annually. Foster's interests have expanded beyond Radio Station KWTO to include a variety of country music talent and transcriptions. His organization has, for example, transcribed 260 Tennessee Ernie Ford 15-minute radio programs which the country will be hearing for three years to come.

Roles Reversed

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP) — Three years ago, Sgt. 1.c. Robert Shipley was an ROTC instructor at Montana State University.

One of his students was Paul D. Hansen of Missoula, Mont.

Shipley was assigned recently to a unit here as platoon sergeant. His platoon leader was 2nd Lt. Paul D. Hansen, his ex-student.

Brazil Has Easy-Going Traffic Rules

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Break the law by speeding through Rio's streets or by passing a red light and no cop will run you down with a ticket and a tongue lashing. In fact, it'll be several days before you know whether you've been caught. And then you'll find out by reading your name in the newspapers.

In Rio, the police just don't have enough motorcycles or cars to use for traffic purposes.

If a policeman observes you breaking a traffic law, he merely writes down your license number. The newspapers print your name with a long list of recent violators. You're supposed to drop in and pay your fine—ranging from 20 cruzeiros (about 27 cents) to 150 cruzeiros (about $2). But this takes many hours so few people show up.

No one tears his hair out worrying about your fine and no one is sent around to collect. They just wait until the end of the year. Then it's settling up time. The whole month of January is devoted to the sale of new license plates. Citizens first pay their fines and then get their plates. Theoretically, it's pay for the year's offenses or don't drive.

But there's a gimmick. Drivers—like drivers the world over—wait until the last moment to buy their plates. Officials attempt to avoid a last-minute rush by promising that fines need not be paid before getting the plates if the plates are bought before Jan. 15. Of course, this does not cancel the fine but nevertheless most people don't pay. And the rush to buy plates goes on just the same.

Officials estimate millions of cruzeiros are lost yearly under this system. But it isn't going to be changed since everyone — except the city treasurer—is happy.

Her Master's Voice

ELK CITY, Okla. (AP) — Holly Jean Hancock, infant daughter of the pastor of the First Baptist Church here, had been crying every Sunday when she was left in the church nursery.

However, the attendants in the nursery soon found a way to make the child coo — they switch on the public address system and when the baby hears her daddy's preaching voice she is perfectly happy.

Other things being equal, large fence posts last longer than small ones.

Judge Furnishes Belt For Boys' Whipping

HARLAN, Ky. (AP)—Two young boys charged with breaking into a railroad caboose left juvenile court with sore cabooses of their own. The judge heard the charges and removed his belt, handing it to the father of the boys, 9 and 7. "You know what to do with it," he told the father.

After the whipping, the jurist threatened to jail the father if the boys got into more trouble.

Baseball Diamond in the Rough

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The baseball diamond at the Pacific Coast League's Lane Field has been out of kilter for nobody knows how long, Bob McGiveron, new ground keeper, discovered.

He said the distance between home plate and pitcher's slab was 87 instead of the standard 90 feet; that the slab was off angle with the plate by several degrees; that none of the bases were exactly 90 feet apart and that home plate pointed to leftcenter field, instead of center. The field has been used by the San Diego Padres since 1936. McGiveron has straightened it out.

Expect 3,000 At National PTA Meeting

More than 3,000 delegates, representing ten million members in some 41,000 local PTA units across the nation and in Hawaii, are expected to attend the 60th annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers in San Francisco, May 20-23. General sessions will be held in the War Memorial Opera House. The theme of the convention is "The Family and the Community: Each Shapes the Other—the PTA Serves Both for Healthy Children in Healthy Communities."

Mrs. Rollin Brown, of Los Angeles, Calif., is president of the organization and will preside at all sessions.

Major addresses will be given by Dr. Frank Baxter, professor at the University of Southern California and television lecturer on English literature; Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director of the World Health Organization; Dr. Archibald J. Carey, Jr., vice-chairman of the President's Committee on Government Employment Policy; and Bergen Evans, author, lecturer, television moderator, and professor at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

In keeping with one of its objects—the promotion of the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community—the PTA is offering an unusual feature at this year's convention. Delegates will see demonstrations of outstanding activity in the areas of health, juvenile protection, secondary education, parent and family life education, recreation, and education of exceptional children. A panel of authorities on these subjects will discuss how local PTA's can adapt such activities to the needs of their own communities.

Good Score for a Thrower

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — When Johnny Erben registered for the team event in the American Bowling Congress tournament an ABC staff member said: "Gonna win another ABC title tonight?"

"Naw, those days are over. I'm just a thrower now," replied Erben.

Two hours later Erben came in with a 698 series.

War Prison Dream of GI Causes Change in His Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The dreams of war prisoners are haunting things.

Because they can do little but dream and wait, their dreams have an intensity beyond the dreams of ordinary people. They dream of love, and money, and power, and food--but mostly food.

Many prisoners of war, when their nightmare ordeal is over and they return to peacetime living, forget the dreams they once found refuge in.

But not Gil Bloom, who for 15 months as a prisoner of the Germans dreamed constantly of—. But let's tell his story from the beginning.

Gil, a tall, powerfully built private from South Orange, N. J, joined the U.S. Rangers shortly after the abortive raid on Dieppe. He himself fought at Gafsa in Tunisia, Gela in Sicily, Salerno and Cassino in Italy.

A few days after the Anzio landing he was with spearheading elements of Rangers when his entire outfit was trapped and captured by a larger German force after seven murderous hours of battle.

He and 125 other Rangers, huddled so closely together in a single cattle car that they had to sleep standing up, rode for seven days and six nights before reaching Germany. In that time they were given only a single meal.

Pfc. Bloom began to dream—of food. Constantly hungry in dreary months that followed in a prison camp near Danzig, he found his dreams came down to a single vision.

"Day and night I dreamed of nothing but steaks. The biggest, juiciest steaks a man could think of. And mountains of snowy ice cream," he said. "And I made up my mind that if I ever got out alive, I'd spend the rest of my life surrounded by steaks and ice cream."

To escape the onrushing Russians, his captors started Gil and the other prisoners on a march across Germany in mid-January of 1945. They walked 700 miles before American troops liberated them in April.

"We had to scavenge what we could from the countryside," he recalled. "There were no meals. We started with 800 men, and there were only 350 to 400 left when we were freed. The rest had dropped out."

Gil's weight had dropped from about 175 pounds to 98 pounds. He fainted in the chowline waiting for his first real meal and spent weeks in a hospital.

"When I came home food was a passion with me," he said. "I couldn't get enough of it."

He went back into his old business as an electrical contractor. But Gil couldn't get that wartime dream out of his head. He wanted to be surrounded by steaks.

Today he is. Gil took his capital and, teaming up with a Greenwich Village restaurateur named Johnny Johnston, opened a steak and chop house called "The Charcoal Room" at 45th St. and 2nd Ave., not far from the United Nations.

The place boomed from the start. One gimmick that helped: Patrons were allowed to don a chef's cap and cook their own steaks.

"Poeple like to show off a little," explained Gil tolerantly.

Now that his dream has come true Gil is as cheerful as a child with a new tricycle.

"I like to see people happy, and they're never happier than when they're eating," he said. "There's only one road to happiness — through the stomach. I found that out."

Gil admires a good trencherman and says heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano is the best he knows.

"I can go two rounds at the table with him and that's about all," he admitted. "Rocky can put down a four-pound steak and then call for lamb chops. But I get filled up on a two-pound steak plus a dish of ice cream covered with chocolate syrup and whipped cream."

But achieving a dream always carries with it a penalty.

Gil, surrounded by steaks and ice cream, now weighs 215 pounds — and is considering going on a diet.

Eating Records

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Crabs, starfish and snails are big eaters, Gunnar Thorson of the University of Copenhagen's zoological museum told an international meeting of marine scientists.

They eat 20 to 30 per cent of their own weight in food daily during their growing period. he said. A 90-pound boy would have to eat 18 to 27 pounds a day to match that.

Apron Fishing

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—The grunion—little fish that swarm onto California beaches in their spawning season to leave eggs in the sand—were running.

Mr. and Msr. Ralph Dixon didn't have anything to catch them with. They dug a hole in the sand and scooped up grunion falling into it. Mrs. Dixon carried enough home in her apron for a nice meal.

ANIMAL, VEGETABLE, MINERAL—That's what this car burns for fuel. The General Motors XP-500, getting the once-over from GM execs, uses a free piston engine which burns animal, vegetable and mineral oils, and then pumps hot gases through a pipe to a turbine which drives the rear wheels. The car will be unveiled next month in Detroit.

Duke Banks on McElhaney

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Duke's football fortunes may be on rise next fall despite the loss of 13 lettermen. Much of their success may depend on Harold McElhaney, Jr., a 197-pound junior fullback from Burgettstown, Pa. He is versatile going through the line or catching passes.

The average man weighs one pound more at the north pole than at the equator, since the earth spins faster at the equator and centrifugal force weakens the pull of gravity.
